ole miss

I am a Southerner. I like the sound of these words. I could no more be otherwise than I could shed my outer skin or change the color of my eyes. I know, because I have thought about it."

Willie Morris

This has been a year of challenged traditions at Ole Miss. Students and alumni have been forced to forfeit a part of their culture in the name of harmony, progress, and compromise. Some people ask why we have a change while others ask why it has taken so long. The fact is, whether we like it or not, Ole Miss has changed in 1983.

A friend from "up north" asked me a question a few years ago that provoked me into mental battle. Tinged with bitterness, yet genuine curiosity, he asked me, "What is it with you people down South? You're constantly saying, 'The South will rise again,' and stuff like that. Why won't you people just let the past be?" For the next year or so when I thought about his question, I wondered if he was right.

But one day I read the words quoted above a fellow Mississippian, Willie Morris. Until then, I thought I was alone in my inner struggle between shame and pride. Finally, I realized there was an answer for those of us who cling to our roots so desperately. The answer was not simple, nor was it fast in coming, but an answer does exist for those outsiders who question our deep love for the South.

Pride is the main reason; for we embrace our traditions. This emotion separates us from the rest of the country and urges us to defend our cultural heritage. We struggle to hold on to what we have in the South, because it is good here. People at Ole Miss are some of the friendliest you will find anywhere.

opening 4

The 1983 OLE MISS is proud to offer a literary exclusive from noted author and Ole Miss writer-in-residence Willie Morris.

His sensitive style and objective viewpoint have truly captured the "Ole Miss mystique".

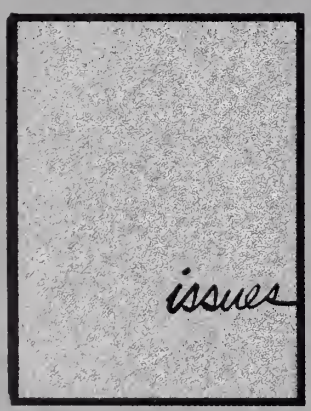

Willie's words are complimented with more color pages and wider coverage in this year's OLE MISS.

administration 78

Take a look at the faces of the Lyceum. You hear their names almost every day . . . your Dean even "signs" your registration form . . . but do you know what they look like?

Steve Corso has put some life into this section with candids and graphics. His assistants were Allison Owen and Pat Robertson.

issues 30

1983 has been a year of change. Traditions have been challenged this year more than ever.

For this reason, we have created an entirely new section for the OLE MISS. Remembering a crisis, losing a football coach and opening an athletic complex have all made this an interesting year.

features 94

While other college yearbooks across the nation have phased out their beauties section, we at Ole Miss continue ours.

Our philosophy: if you've got it, flaunt it.

Becky Smitheal with the assistance of Lynn Evans and Gina Agostinelli give you the 1983 features section. Copy written by Nat Sampson.

Events 44

Ole Miss offers its students everything from a sunny day at Shrimp and Beer to a cultural evening with the Prague Symphony.

Liz Bowman and A. G. Harmon have creatively compiled all of this into one of the most popular sections of the book.

sports 114

This was a good year for some, a bad year for most.

The loss of two head coaches and the success of the Lady Rebels made for quite a bit of excitement.

Pam Peden has put together an exciting new look for this year's section. Her assistants were Tal Hicks and Lorrie Woods.

These clubs provide professional experience as well as a lot of resume building.

Lisa Parker has done close to the impossible by arranging this huge section. Paul Maxwell, Claire Skaggs and Marie Harmon were her assistants.

humor 330

On the lighter side, the 1983 OLE MISS has a little fun with some organizations and events of this year.

Joey Gunn and Laurel Adams have proven themselves as true naturals (natural what?) for this section.

"I should have known . . ."

greeks 214

Some say this is the ruling class of Ole Miss. Greeks have created our "party" image.

Ole Miss is regarded as somewhat of a phenomenon in the Greek world. With nearly 50% of the campus participating, these clubs capture more national awards than almost any other university.

honors 288

Here we have the cream of the crop. Ole Miss presents its best scholastically, athletically and professionally.

With thousands of names and titles to collect, Lil McKinnon and Harry Park have done an excellent job, even adding a trivia box for a little spice. Craig Miller gave them much needed assistance.

closing 418

Here is a breath of fresh air in yearbook graphics.

Pointing toward the future, Assistant Editor Newell Turner has put together a new look for this year's closing; a very suitable ending for our theme of change.

For me it is the loveliness of the Ole Miss campus, the accessibility of solitude which means so much. It is not the most beautiful campus in America, but it comes very close. Its sense of isolation, and of the authentic rural countryside which envelopes it, makes it unique. One can absorb the palpable sophistication of a small southern university, and then after the most casual ten-minute drive, one can be in a terrain only obliquely touched by the modern day.

The campus does not have the intense, self contained beauty of a Chapel Hill, a Sewanee, or a W and L, but unlike many universities it has retained its open spaces and its sense of quiet. One grows to love its loops and groves and unexpected enclaves; its trees and flowers in the magical springtime are a song in the heart. The woods behind the Coliseum, the Education Building and Rowan Oak are perfect for loneliness.

My black labrador, Pete — a campus dog if ever there was one — and I have all these things to ourselves when Sundays come around; for as always the Ole Miss students go home on weekends. I have absorbed the Ole Miss past of suffering, of defeat and resilience.

Now, in 1983, Ole Miss is a subtle blend of everything the Deep South was and is — the Rebel flags, the Kappa Alphas in Old South, the beautiful sorority girls who will marry at age twenty-one in their Delta weddings. It is the best and the worst of an older South which has stepped into the new age. Many of the white students live the most sheltered of lives. Their proximity with the young blacks of Ole Miss seems both necessary and exhilarating. The whites living here in the South's most poignant and challenging years of change are "grown up" and at the same time rowdy children. They still get hopelessly drunk at The Gin, or The Warehouse, or The Abby, and I sometimes wonder how many of them read books. Yet others of them come to The Hoka at midnight for coffee and cheesecake to discuss those things which are edible to a university town: literature and fantasy — the human race.

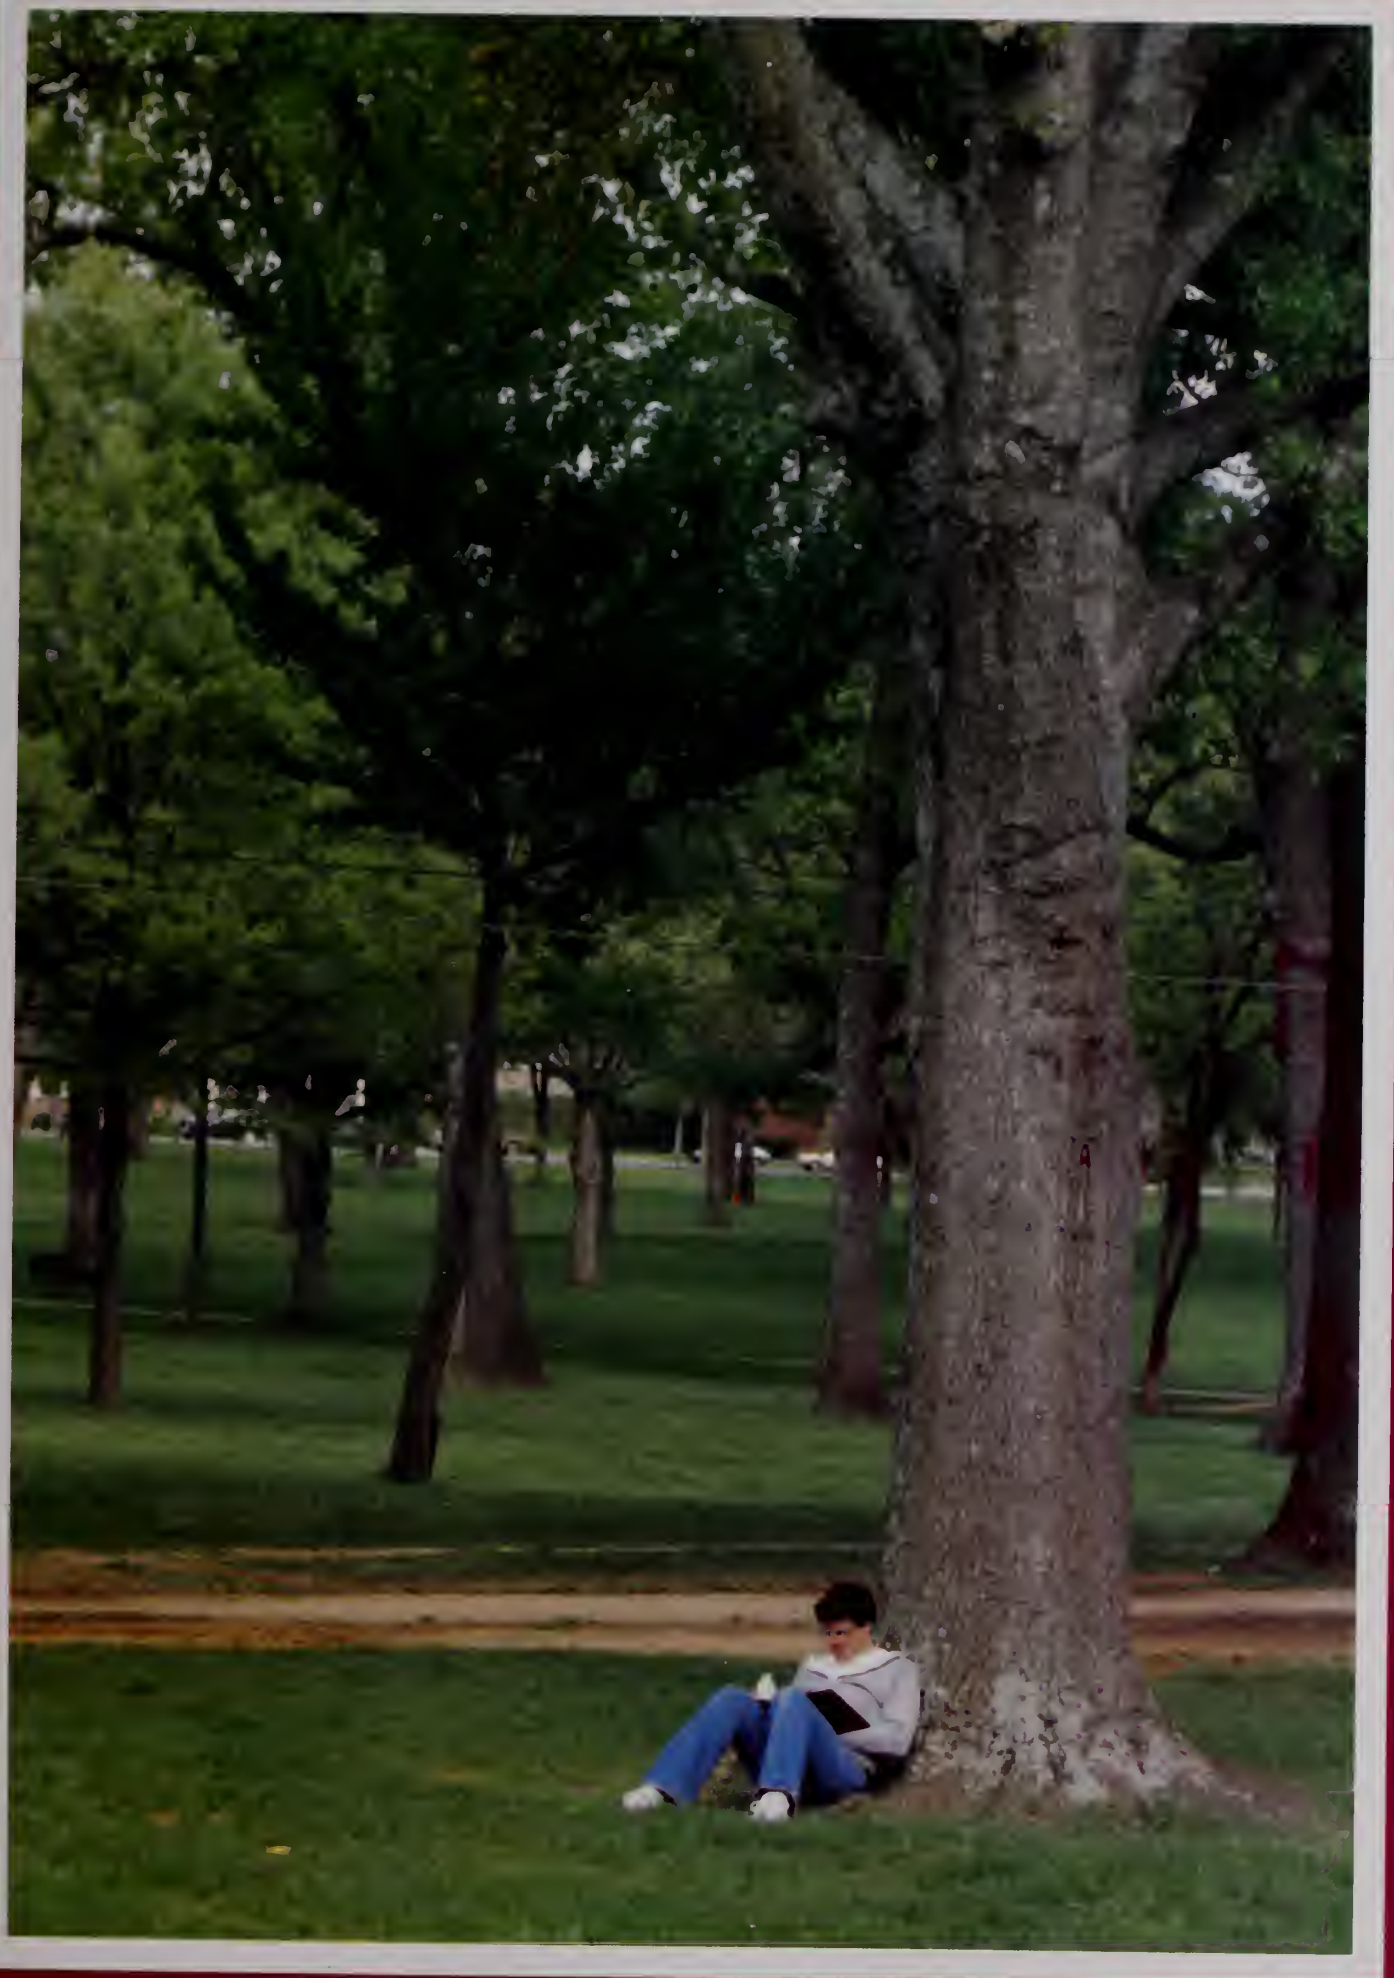

Their parents have told them story upon story of their own experiences, of the special Ole Miss mystique — the lobby of The Peabody, fraternities and sororities, trips to "The Line", pep rallies on the cadaverous football teams. Many of the boys of that communal tradition are now pressed to relate to their young black contemporaries who are shy about friendships with whites and to whom the symbols of the traditional south are ominous and embarrassing.

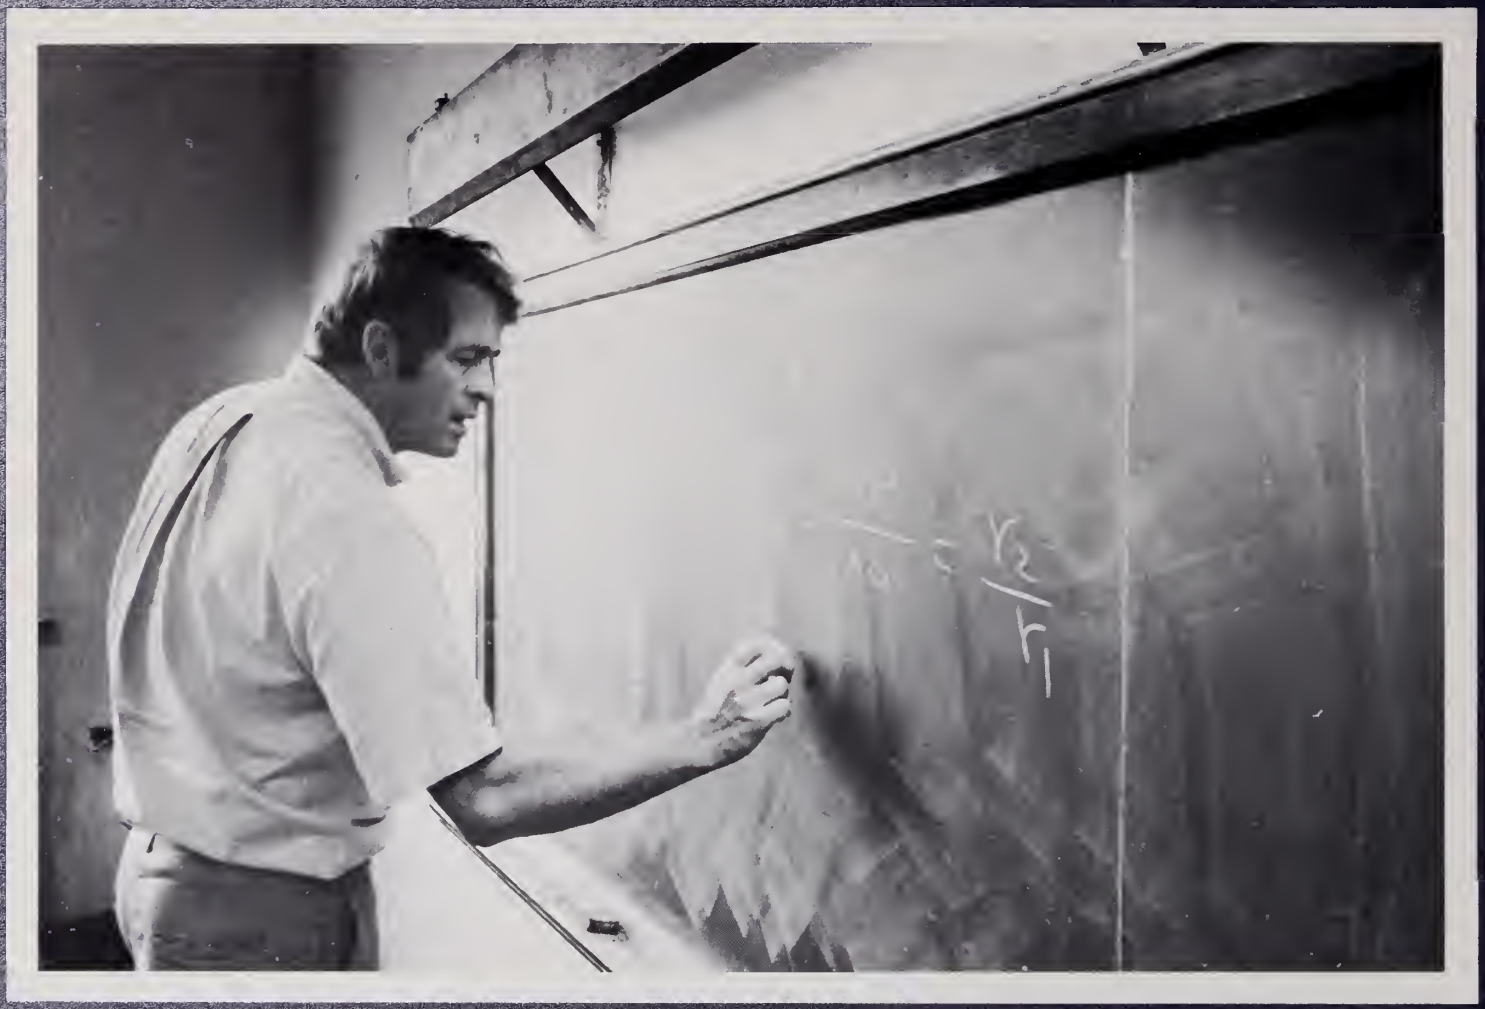

The first black cheerleader refused to carry the Rebel flag at the stadium during football games. There was a growing awareness that the flag itself might be damaging to the Ole Miss Rebels in their recruitment of black athletes. What to do about this? It was the Twentieth Anniversary of the James Meredith Crisis, and amidst the intense scrutiny of the national press and television, the University handled itself well.

It is a different age, yet much remains the same. The friends one makes are still likely to be the friends of a lifetime. The party pictures, the memorable pictures in the Grove, the football weekends in Jackson, the hospitality and wild exuberance are all part of "Ole Miss". A sense of history, of the pride and despair of Mississippi is here as it has always been. From that the campus glitters. Heroes are named Hemingway and Barnett, Michael and Carlos Ely, and Kappas; but that same human problems remain to be solved.

In the midst of all this, a most common quest in the University of Mississippi, there is the eternal beauty and solitude of the campus, its inviting softness and languor. They remind you of those things — the strength of remembrance, of belonging to the Lord's earth.

Hawkins elected/flag controversy

20 years after admitting its first black student, Ole Miss elected its first black cheerleader, John Hawkins.

The 1,241 votes he received demonstrated attitudes quite different from the attitudes during the 1960's riots against intergration. Hawkins was not the only black up for election; his partner, Clara Bibbs, was defeated by just 100 votes.

Students settled into the fall football weekend routine without giving much thought to Hawkins' decision not to wave the Rebel flag. National news services, however, gave him tremendous coverage and Ole Miss found itself embroilled in angry controversy — a controversy magnified by the WASHINGTON POST and NEW YORK TIMES — places far removed from an otherwise calm campus.

OLE MISS CHEERLEADER JOHN HAWKINS

Black Ole Miss cheerleader spurns Rebel flag

By JAY T. HARRIS
Gannett News Service

OXFORD — When the University of Mississippi opens its football season Saturday, the Ole Miss cheerleaders will include a black for the first time in the school's history — and that's only part of what's new.

When the cheerleaders dash onto the field at Hemingway Stadium, only one of them will carry a Confederate flag. The rest will carry nothing.

All that moment, an anachronistic tradition linking Ole Miss symbolically to the Confederacy and the system of white supremacy that once ruled the South will have been subtly but irrevocably compromised — all because a few months ago a young black student said "No!"

The student, 20-year-old John Hawkins of Water Valley, was elected last spring to the cheerleading squad.

Following his election Hawkins announced that, unlike all male cheerleaders before him at Ole Miss, he would not wave a Confederate flag — referred to locally as the "Rebel" flag, the school's nickname being the Ole Miss Rebels — during the games. He suggested as an alternative the state of Mississippi flag.

Hawkins' suggestion was mulled over the summer and, for a while at least, appeared likely to be accepted without much controversy. Only two weeks ago Dean of Students Franklin Moak was predicting the acceptance of Hawkins' proposed alternative.

"I believe they've got it worked out so that he won't have to wave any Rebel flag," he said. "I think he's going to wave the Mississippi flag and I think others will also."

But the diehards are not yet dead in Mississippi, particularly among the university's extremely vocal alumni. Upon learning of the proposed change, alumni reaction was "severe," according to Edwin Meek, the university's public relations director.

Calls poured into university administrators' offices, a "very major controversy" developed, and "the idea (of letting Hawkins carry a state flag) was killed in the smoke" of the ensuing firestorm of protest, Meek said.

The protesters feared that the introduction of the state flag was part of a plan of university administrators to replace the Confederate flag as the school's banner.

The new plan, in which only one cheerleader will carry the Confederate flag, was described by Meek as a compromise which, he added, Hawkins was instrumental in achieving.

Black student resentment of the Confederate flag as the school's banner and of Dixie as the school's fight song tell a lot about how integration is going two decades after its beginning here was forced by federal law and federal troops.

The compromise Hawkins negotiated with university officials will further the integration of university life on and around the gridiron at Ole Miss.

The football team is about 40 percent black, and head coach Steve Sloan says he would like the words "University of Missis-

UM elects black cheerleader

By Nancy Finerty and Patti Patterson

Eight returning cheerleaders and the first black cheerleader in Ole Miss history, John Hawkins, were elected Thursday night to represent the university on the 1982-83 varsity cheerleading squad.

Elected as women cheerleaders were:
- Leslie Andrews, 1,669 votes.
- Amy Finch, 1,554 votes.
- Sherry Hales, 1,360 votes.
- Perry Eaton, 1,161 votes.
- Laura Smith, 1,130 votes.
- Ginny Walker, 1,086 votes.

Andrews, Finch, Eaton are returning.

The male cheerleaders who were elected were:
- Bodeen Denton, 1,510 votes.
- Jody Bruscato, 1,455 votes.
- Noel Reed, 1,382 votes.
- Frank Parker, 1,336 votes.
- David Rogers, 1,323 votes.
- John Hawkins, 1,241 votes.

Denton, Bruscato, Reed and Parker are returning.

These totals are unofficial results.

Hawkins, 19, a banking and finance major from Water Valley, ran as partner with Clara Bibbs, also black, in the campaign.

Ten male and 10 female candidates were in the race. The cheerleading squad was expanded from 10 to 12 this year. The top six male and female candidates were elected.

Here are the other candidates and their vote totals:

Female candidates:
- Leah Sigler, 1,075 votes.
- Lindy Walters, 1,056 votes.
- Tammy Elliott, 1,012 votes.
- Clara Bibbs, 978 votes.

The male candidates:
- Mike Huggins, 967 votes.
- Mike Fountain, 965 votes.
- Bob Mahaney, 930 votes.
- Doug Stanford, 800 votes.

ASB election officials said approximately 2,100 votes were cast.

Senior Class officer elections also were Thursday, and Walter Michel and Susie Merrill finished as the top two candidates for president and will be in a runoff Tuesday.

Michel received 63 votes of the 212 ballots cast and Merrill received 52 votes. The other candidates were Mark Gunn (49 votes and Scott Philips (48 votes).

Oby Rogers was unopposed for vice-president. Ann Roy was unopposed for secretary/treasurer.

Earlier this year, the selection process for cheerleaders was changed to include two black judges on the screening panel to chose candidates.

The election of Hawkins comes just four months short of the 20th anniversary of the admission of James Meredith, the first black at Ole Miss.

Shortly before the results were announced, Hawkins said he "wouldn't feel right" being a cheerleader without Bibb.

"Clara Bibbs is the only person that could convince me to go though with it," Hawkins said.

Bibbs said she was happy about John Hawkins' victory and that the election was a good learning experience for her.

"If I was here another year," she said, "I'd probably try it again."

Bibbs said making the top 10 let her know that she had the potential to be an Ole Miss cheerleader.

"The election wasn't as important to me as making the top 10, because making top 10 proved to myself and a lot of people that I was good enough," she said.

Bibbs said the election was out of her hands and that she was satisfied with herself.

"Elections can go either way," she said, "making top 10 means the hard work and long hours of practice paid off."

'A new age' for Hawkins

By Ann Harrison and Lynn Markley
DM Staff Writer

John Hawkins said he is happy to be the first black cheerleader at Ole Miss, but is sad that his partner, Clara Bibbs, didn't win.

"I'm surprised and glad, but Clara Bibbs has been my heart, my inspiration and my soul," Hawkins, a 19-year-old sophomore banking and finance major from Water Valley, said. He said he had no plans to try out until Bibbs asked him to be her partner.

"We went out as a team. We practiced together and she got me fired up," Hawkins said. "We went all out, and we were good—boy, we were real good," he said.

Hawkins said he doesn't think that being the first black cheerleader will cause many problems.

"I'm sure there will be some sarcasm because some people won't be able to accept a black cheerleader," Hawkins said, "but this is a new age and the time has passed for prejudice."

Hawkins said he didn't think his having a white partner would pose any problems unless people in the audience couldn't accept it.

"I love all the cheerleaders to death," Hawkins said. "And only old-fashioned people wouldn't accept a black cheerleader, and I pity them."

Hawkins said that having a black cheerleader is going to be very beneficial for the university. He said that Ole Miss has been one of the few schools not to have a black cheerleader and that has discouraged blacks from attending Ole Miss.

"This will be great for the university, it will help recruitment," Hawkins said. "This will also encourage more blacks to try out for cheerleading in the future." He also said he thought it would be very encouraging for black athletes to have a representative who is a cheerleader.

Hawkins also said he thought he probably got many white, as well as black, votes.

"I probably got a lot of white support because I'm involved and people know me," Hawkins said. He is vice president of the Black Student Union and ex-BSU treasurer.

"I wasn't running as the BSU vice president. I was running as John Hawkins," he said.

"There has been a lot of discussion concerning black cheerleaders this year and some may think that this is just a token position," Hawkins said. "But its not—I feel that Clara and I were among the best."

The music from the Michael Johnson concert on the Union plaza was loud, spirits were high and loud cheers raised as the first black male cheerleader, John Hawkins, walked into his fraternity party at the Phi Beta Sigma house. Hawkins, who placed sixth in the campus-wide election, was "surprised, excited and speechless" as he accepted congratulations and fraternity handshakes from members of his fraternity and other blacks at the party.

"I am accepting the decision of the election, unless something comes up," Hawkins said. "My primary interest is Clara and how she is feeling right now, but I have not been able to get in touch with her."

Robert Jordan
John Hawkins

Hawkins, who had been watching the election returns at the Union, came to the party late to celebrate his victory. Fraternity brothers gathered round Hawkins hugging and shaking his hand.

Blacks at the party were excited for Hawkins and said that it was about time Ole Miss voted in a black cheerleader.

"The racial balance is getting better at Ole Miss now that we have a black cheerleader," Gracie Flowers, another coed, said. "Ole Miss needs to give us a chance. Voting John in as cheerleader is a definite breakthrough in the racial balance."

Anti-nukes observe Ground Zero Week

By Suzanne Bell
DM Staff Writer

Approximately 150 people signed to join a campus anti-nuclear organization Thursday, said Mark Tew, assistant professor of electrical engineering at Ole Miss.

Tew encouraged both students and faculty members to join the Ole Miss chapter of United Campuss to Prevent Nuclear War at an educational booth set up outside the Union. Chapters are forming simultaneously on over 300 campuses in observance of Ground Zero Week, Tew said. During this week Americans should think about the nuclear arms race and its effects on their lives, he said.

"People feel strongly about this. We had much more favorable response than critical. Many people don't want to know about it," Tew said.

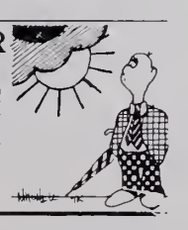

Tew said the Ole Miss chapter to Prevent Nuclear War will provide educational material and possibly sponser films and lectures.

"We will probably meet at least once a semester just to keep the idea in front of people's minds to prevent them from burying their heads in the sand too long," he said.

There is no doubt that conservatism played a part in Ole Miss' response to Ground Zero Week, he said.

"People here seem scared of anything political. They look at disarmament, think it's liberal and walk away. But overall, I think the turnout was a success," Tew said.

REACTION

Here are some reactions to the election of John Hawkins as an Ole Miss cheerleader:

Jeff Hubbard, who has portrayed the character of Johnny Reb for two years, said, "I think this will be one of the strongest squads in years. It is a squad Ole Miss can be proud of."

"By the vote total, it is easy to see that he didn't get just the black vote. He got a lot of votes from everywhere else," he said.

Hubbard said he believes the alumni will react favorably to a black cheerleader. "You look at the alumni when Buford Magee scores a touchdown. They don't pull any harder for Kinney Hooper when he scores, and they won't pull any harder for, say Frank Parker, than they will for John Hawkins," Hubbard said.

BSU President-elect Lydia Spragin said, "It's a milestone for the University of Mississippi. I'm very happy for John—he worked very hard and he deserves it.

"It proves that UM can work together accomplish a common goal—blacks, whites, everybody," Spragin said.

BSU President Dexter Foster said Hawkins' election was something "the BSU has been working on for four years."

"This is a historic moment for Ole Miss," Foster said.

"This is the first time students judged candidates on their talent instead of their color," he said.

He said that the presence of a black judge at the tryouts this year gave black students confidence and showed no one was being discriminated against.

Arthur Ramsey, a member of Hawkins' fraternity, Phi Beta Sigma, Hawkins at first talked about not accepting the position because Clara Bibbs, also a black candidate for cheerleader, was not elected.

"A lot of people worked hard for him," Ramsey said, "and we told him he'd be letting us down if he didn't take it."

Ginny Walker, a returning cheerleader, said she was very excited about Hawkins' victory. "He got out there and won so it shows the student body is behind him," she said.

Sherry Hales, a Brandon sophomore who was just elected cheerleader, said, "I hope Ole Miss students can take it like the cheerleaders can.

"I hope the alumni and the students are able to see his (Hawkins') good qualities and not see that he is black and his partner is white," Hales said. "I wouldn't mind a bit if John were my partner."

Dr. Gloria Robinson-Lewis, assistant director of student activities for minority affairs, said, "I think it is a breakthrough and good for Ole Miss, especially for recruitment. When blacks look on the field it won't be just whites anymore—there'll be some spice added to it."

Michael Harmon, junior wide receiver on the football team, said, "I'm real happy. Everyone was fussing about not having a black cheerleader. It'll be like a step forward. We (the M club) just want the most qualified people to cheer for us."

ASB Director of Campus Affairs Larry Pittman said Hawkins' election will "do a lot to help relationships between the different races on campus. I think it's a breakthrough. It shows the attitude of the campus is changing."

ASB President William Ray said, "I didn't get the impression that people considered race as much as I thought they would have. People said they were voting for John because he is good."

Clark, Williams endorsed

JACKSON (AP)—Republican Liles Williams and Democrat Robert Clark have been endorsed by The Clarion-Ledger—Jackson Daily News in the 4th and 2nd Districts respectively.

In its Sunday editions, the newspaper said Williams has a better grasp of the issues than his opponent, incumbent Democrat Wayne Dowdy.

Liles Williams is more attuned to the challenges facing government and has the background to make an excellent congressman," the editorial said.

In the 2nd District race, The Clarion-Ledger said Clark had the edge over Republican Webb Franklin because of his four terms in the state Legislature.

His political views are probably more in tune with the Mississippi Delta than Mr. Franklin's views," the newspaper said. The district has a history of sending moderate congressmen to Washington.

Board says funds needed

JACKSON (AP)—The College Board estimates that $4.5 million is needed above the established budgets of Mississippi's eight public universities to make professor's salaries competitive in the marketplace for qualified faculty.

E.E. Thrash, director of the College Board, said faculty salaries are exceptionally low in certain fields of study including business, engineering, computer science, law, meteorology and geology.

Another $2.3 million is being requested to increase the universities' library holdings.

Ole Miss Law School Dean Parham Williams said Ole Miss' legal library lags behind state-supported law schools in 13 Southeastern states surveyed.

'Dixie' protest not just a UM problem

By Danny Reynolds

Staff Writer

Although playing the song "Dixie" at Ole Miss is now under fire by James Meredith, the protests are not the first attempt to ban the tune at a southern university.

The University of Georgia stopped using "Dixie" as a school song in 1971 after several years of protests by the black student body, a group that comprised about three percent of the total student population.

The university's band director, Roger Dancz, made the decision to stop using the song because of its political implications.

He said, "I decided that it did not belong in the band's repertoire."

The university's assistant director of public relations, Tom Landrum, said, "For the majority of people at the University of Georgia, the song 'Dixie' was used as a stirring song that represented spirited southern football. It held no connection with racial attitudes."

Landrum said that after every Georgia football game the band would have a concert in the stands. During these concerts, the band would play a number songs, including "Dixie."

During the height of the protests, some spectators would shout and threaten the band director and band members about playing "Dixie." On some instances bottles were thrown. This behavior continued until Dancz ended the controversy by banning "Dixie."

According to an Atlanta Constitution column, there were efforts to strip Dancz of his job or force him to reinstate "Dixie" into the band's repertoire. But both the university's athletic director and president supported Dancz's decision on the grounds of academic freedom.

Don Leslie, who was then the associate vice president for development and university relations, said that band is a class at the University of Georgia and making Dancz reinstate "Dixie" would have been the same as telling an instructor what he could or could not teach.

The Atlanta Constitution reported that there were a number of incidents concerning the song at the first football game after Dancz's decision not to play "Dixie." The paper reported that fans sang chorus after chorus of "Dixie" and that a plane circled the stadium with a streamer that read "Dump Dancz."

A campus-wide referendum showed that a majority of the student body wanted the University of Georgia band to continue to play "Dixie" at athletic events. The vote showed a 3-1 margin in favor of playing "Dixie." The turnout was the second highest in the school's history.

Today the University of Georgia has not played "Dixie" at a football game in 11 years, but according to Landrum, there is neither a university nor state ban on "Dixie."

"If the band wanted to add it to their repertoire next Saturday they could," he said. The local radio station that carries Georgia football still plays "Dixie" as an intro to the game. We don't play "Dixie" now because we are Georgia Bulldogs not the Ole Miss Rebels."

But several alumni and students say they miss not hearing "Dixie" at Georgia games. One Georgia alumni asked after the Georgia-Ole Miss football game, "Why didn't y'all bring your band? We all wanted to hear "Dixie" so bad. The whole stadium would have gone crazy."

Save the flag

Hooded and robed members of the Ku Klux Klan march down Jackson Avenue to the Square during Saturday's demonstration, which was intended to support Ole Miss' use of the Rebel flag. One speaker said, "The Rebel flag is more sacred than anything else in the South. Destroy it and the American flag will soon go."

Klan demonstration calm

By Patti Patterson

Staff News Editor

A group of 29 Ku Klux Klan members rallied in Oxford's Square where their leader said the Rebel flag should be defended because it is more sacred than anything else in the South.

"Destroy it and the American flag will soon go," Grand Dragon Gordon Galle, of Picayune, told a crowd of about 400 people who gathered at the Square Saturday.

He said that the Rebel flag should be defended, not defaced.

The march, which began on Jackson Avenue and ended at the Square, was uneventful. One person was arrested after speeches by Galle and another state Klan leader.

The Rebel flag is more sacred than anything else in the South," Galle said.

Galle also told the crowd, who alternately booed and applauded, that whites should unite, blacks should go back to Africa and forced school integration is not working.

After the speeches an Oxford resident, Frank D. Williams, 32, was arrested, jailed for about an hour and charged with disorderly conduct. Police Chief Billy White said.

Witnesses said Williams yelled an obscenity at Klan supporters when they bumped him with their car. Williams will be arraigned in city court on Nov. 9, White said.

Galle, who has been Grand Dragon since 1976, said the turnout for the demonstration was better than he had expected, and he hopes to stage more marches in Oxford soon. He said he planned to request permission from university officials to march on campus.

The Klan members, dressed in white robes and hoods, some with masks covering their faces, began marching at the commuting law school students' parking lot on Jackson Avenue at 11:30 a.m. Galle said he expected some local citizens to march, but all the marchers arrived in cars with out-of-town license plates.

All the participants, except three state Klan officers who led the procession, carried flags—two American, two red-and-white Klan banners and the rest Rebel.

A few spectators, both black and white, lined the street as Confederate flags lined the parking lot where the Ku Klux Klan gathered Saturday in support of Ole Miss' use of the Rebel flag.

From a distance onlookers watched as Klan members gathered at the off-campus law school parking lot prepared for the three-quarter mile march down Jackson Avenue to the Oxford Square.

Reporters and cameramen followed the Klansmen as they marched. Some Klan members wore red satin jackets decorated with the Klan emblem: a red blood drop on a white cross—while others wore T-shirts with a Rebel flag and the inscription, "The South Shall Rise Again."

Some of the 29 Klansmen were apprehensive about talking with reporters, and one pointed to their leader, Gordon Galle, saying, "We're not supposed to talk to ya'll. He's the guy who's official."

As a man stood talking with two reporters, a woman chided him for talking to the press.

Anna VanKirk initially refused to talk with a reporter, but later explained why she joined the Klan. "I joined because I believe in white unity."

The news media won't tell the truth about us—about us trying to get the school system straightened out, about trying to get prayer back in school, about trying to get the blacks out of our schools," she said.

A few sleepy children climbed out of the cars from Rankin, Neshoba, Pearl River and Hinds counties, complaining of the cold, as their parents and others pulled out suitcases and began donning white robes and hoods. Most of the women and several men covered their faces with snap-on white masks.

Two Oxford men watched from a yellow pickup. One hooded man approached them. "I just can't see in this thing," he said. "Is my helmet on straight?"

Ray believes press unfair on flag issue

By Nancy Flaherty
DM Managing Editor

ASB President William Ray said Wednesday that the media coverage of Ole Miss' first elected black cheerleader has been unfair to Ole Miss.

"We're being misrepresented in the press—not only in the state but all over the country. People from outside the university—not students, not alumni and not administrators—are simply giving false statements about Ole Miss," Ray said.

By centering on Ole Miss's past racial problems, Ray said, the press is ignoring the progress the University has made in the 20 years since blacks were admitted.

"Instead of talking to representatives of the school or of the student body, some members of the press are searching for people who are going to complain. It's a genuine shame that people in and out of Mississippi are trying to make a negative problem out of a situation that would not have caused any trouble at all," Ray said.

Ray blamed the press for using Ole Miss as "a whipping boy for race relations."

"Why, when people talk about Ole Miss, do they talk about one riot that occurred 20 years ago instead of the thousands of black students that went to class and graduated from here since that time? That very one change is so obvious.

"There are black students at every school, why us? At every school in the South Eastern Conference there has at one time or another been a first black cheerleader. Where was the press when it happened at those schools? We're the only ones who get the coverage," Ray said.

Hawkin's decision not to wave a Rebel flag during Ole Miss games has caused rumors to circulate about an administrative plan to phase out the use of the Rebel flag. Ray said Hawkin's decision not to carry a flag was made on the basis that it would affect no one but himself.

"John tried to think of a way that he could cheer without compromising the black students' position. He came up with an alternative—to carry the Mississippi flag," he said.

But at a press conference last night, Hawkins said he would not carry a flag in Saturday's game.

The administration's recent purchase of a large Mississippi flag to use on Public Official's Day at the Ole Miss-Tulane game added fuel to the rumor that the administration was planning to phase out the Rebel flag. But Ray said no administrative decision had been made.

"That (the phasing out of the Rebel flag) obviously couldn't be put into affect by the administration at any time. White and black students alike will do whatever they want to do," he said.

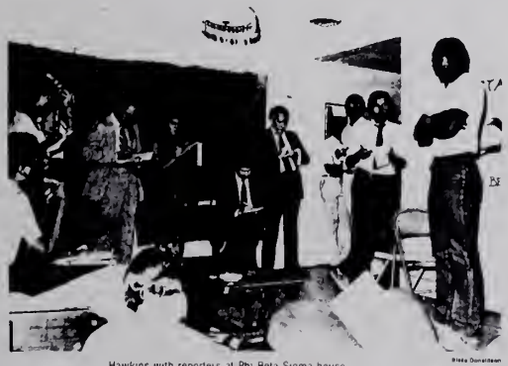

Ray said all the problems Hawkins and the rest of the cheerleading squad have faced in the past week have come from outside the university community.

"I haven't heard any complaint from the student body—it's all the people from outside the University. I am pleased but I'm also dismayed that it's the young people who are behaving with so much more maturity than their elders have shown," Ray said.

Hawkins and Smith in media spotlight

By Danny Reynolds
DM Staff Writer

Laura Smith became a varsity cheerleader last spring and she has attracted attention before she's even run out to lead cheers in Hemingway Stadium.

The reason is her cheerleading partner—John Hawkins, the first elected black cheerleader at Ole Miss.

Hawkins was elected last spring, but this week reporters from state and national news media have swooped into Oxford for stories focusing on Hawkins and a 20th anniversary observance of the admission of blacks into the university.

All this media attention on Hawkins has meant attention on his partner—so much attention, Miss Smith said, that she and Hawkins have had trouble practicing for the season football opener Saturday against Memphis State.

"John and I are working real hard and we have several difficult stunts already down. I am also helping John with his tumbling," Miss Smith said.

"We aren't having any problems as partners. John and I have become great friends this year, but the press keeps on harassing us trying to stir up their own fabricated problems we supposedly have. They keep interfering with our practice time. We are now having to find secret places for the squad to practice in order to get anything done," Miss Smith said.

We have a lot of potential on the squad this year and there is no problem we can't work out together as a squad. I feel this will be one of the best cheerleading squads Ole Miss has ever seen because everyone is so eager to learn new things and we all have such good relationships with each other. We're good—you'll see on Saturday," she said.

Miss Smith, 20, a junior accounting major from Yazoo City, was an instructor for the Universal Cheerleading Association last spring when she was elected to the varsity squad. This is her first year as a varsity cheerleader.

Before the end of the semester last spring, several practices were scheduled by Frank Parker, the head cheerleader, to aid him in the selection of partners for the upcoming school year.

Frank had to consider strength, weight, height, ability and personalities in his decision," Miss Smith said.

Hawkins responds to press

By Kitty Dumas
DM Staff Writer

For the first time since his election, Ole Miss' first black cheerleader, John Hawkins, publicly proposed an alternative to the Confederate flag as a symbol of the university.

At a press conference at the Phi Beta Sigma house last night, Hawkins said he would have no objections to waving a Confederate flag with a replica of the school mascot, Colonel Rebel, in the center.

The issue of the Rebel flag and Hawkin's refusal to wave it, remains a controversial one at Ole Miss.

"When Meredith tried to enter the university," Hawkins said, "the people who were trying to keep him out were not waving that flag (the proposed flag)," he said.

Asked what the Colonel Rebel, represented by the mascot, was doing 100 years ago, Hawkins said, "Our mascot did not do anything a hundred years ago."

"The Rebel flag is the only thing separating blacks and whites at Ole Miss," Hawkins said.

The Rebel flag is one of the main concerns of black athletes who consider coming to Ole Miss, he said.

"As it is in its present stage (because of the flag) Ole Miss will not get the big-name athletes," he said.

Saturday at the Rebels' first football game, Hawkins will not be waving a flag at all, he said, because he chose not to. There is no written rule that cheerleaders must carry a flag, he said.

I'm an Ole Miss cheerleader," Hawking said before the conference. "That makes me a representative of the whole student body—blacks and whites—but I am also a black man and the same way whites have been taught to wave it with pride, I have been taught to have nothing to do with it and what it represents. I have no personal quarrels with the flag, but I know I can't please everybody. I'm damned if I do and damned if I don't."

It is not any rebellion against the university or the system," he said.

Waving the flag would give an impression that all black students wave the flag while many despise it, he said.

Hawkins described his partner Laura Smith, a junior from Yazoo City, as "a wonderful girl and one of the best cheerleaders I've ever seen."

Asked if he felt some Southerners would be angered by Hawkins performing with a white partner, Hawkins said that's "racism everywhere you go. It's up to them to adjust."

Ole Miss alumni have not contacted Hawkins, he said, and he had not been coached by members of the public relations department prior to the press conference.

Hawkins said that he had been in touch with Chancellor Porter Fortune, and that he calls him occasionally when he needs moral support.

One reporter and former Ole Miss student remarked that when she was at Ole Miss she never could call the Chancellor when she needed moral support.

"You weren't the first black cheerleader," Hawkins quipped.

Although it has been rumored that security will be extremely tight at the game Saturday, Hawkins did not discuss it, saying that he did not know anything about plans for extra security and that no one has offered him a bodyguard.

I am excited about the game as any other cheerleader would be and I am ready to cheer for the Rebels," he said.

And being the first black cheerleader has brought enormous pressure on Hawkins because of the attention he has received from the media.

I regret that Laura has had to suffer because of the enormous amount of publicity I have gotten," he said earlier.

Hawkins said he did not believe all of the publicity was necessary.

Southern has a black cheerleader. Hawkins said, and he doesn't have to call a press conference.

Hoping for a compromise, Hawkins said he would wave a Rebel flag with a replica of Colonel Rebel placed on it. Members of the Ku Klux Klan responded with a rally through Oxford to protest changing the flag. "Destroy it, and the American flag will soon go," Grand Dragon Gordon Galle of Picayune said. An Oxford man was arrested for disorderly conduct, but no other incidents occurred. Although Galle said he hoped to have additional marches in Oxford and one on campus, the hooded Klansmen did not stage any more demonstrations.

Two coaches lost/gained

Games weren't the only losses the basketball and football teams had to deal with. The head coaches for both programs left the university.

Bob Weltlich, whose six-year coaching stint took the basketball teams to SEC, NIT and NCAA playoffs, was named coach of the USA National Men's Basketball Team last year. He left at the end of the 1981-82 season to coach at the University of Texas at Austin.

Weltlich's replacement was Lee Hunt who spent the last 12 years coaching with Gene Bartow at Memphis State, Illinois, UCLA, and Alabama-Birmingham. This coaching team produced three NIT squads, two teams making the NCAA Final Four, and two Missouri Valley Conference championship teams.

Weltlich left behind a winning record, but Steve Sloan took a five-season losing streak when he accepted the head football coaching position at Duke. Newspapers proclaimed his successor, former Rebel football player Billy Brewer, as a "repairman" and a doctor "paged to the emergency room at Ole Miss." Brewer, whose college coaching record is 57-49-3 overall, promised in turn, a return of football glory to Ole Miss.

Tears turn to smiles as Sloan meets Duke

By RICK CLEVELAND
Clarion-Ledger Sports Writer

DURHAM, N C — Wednesday's tears have turned to Friday's smiles.

Steve Sloan, who broke down sobbing Wednesday at Ole Miss when he announced he was leaving after five years as head football coach, charmed the media here at a Friday afternoon press conference.

Sloan, appearing a bit haggard from his hectic pace of late, was nevertheless his downcome, humorous self in his first official function as Duke University football coach.

North Carolina media, who came armed with difficult questions about Sloan's losing record at Ole Miss, wound up a captivated audience, often guffawing at Sloan's one-liners.

Asked how he had changed since he began as a head football coach at Vanderbilt at the tender age of 28, Sloan said, "I'd say that I was very young, and now I'm very old. I was 39 then and now I'm 63."

Someone asked if Sloan was aware that Duke didn't allow the red-shirting of student-athletes. "Yes, I understand that there is no red-shirting except in case of injuries," Sloan said, before planting tongue firmly in cheek. "Before it's over, we may have some coach-inflicted wounds."

The tough questions were asked. What were the major problems Sloan faced at Ole Miss that caused him to lose after winning seasons at Vanderbilt and Texas Tech?

"If we had three or four days, I might be able to explain the situation at Ole Miss," Sloan said. "There is a whole scenario and we don't have the time here to get into it."

Yes, he agreed, the symbols, rebel flag, etc., at Ole Miss had been especially detrimental in the recruiting of top black athletes.

"Let me say this. I've been involved in football programs at six schools as an assistant and head coach," Sloan said, his voice becoming more forceful. "At only one of those was I involved with losing consistently. I don't ever intend to be involved with losing again."

Sloan's hectic pace will not slow any time soon. Immediately following the press conference, Sloan was to meet with the assistant coaches from the Duke staff of the past season.

Sources at Duke say Sloan is expected to retain two and possibly three of those coaches.

"Our coaching staff is up in the air right now," Sloan said. "I'll meet with the coaches here. Some of the coaches at Mississippi will come here I'm sure. That's up in the air, too, because some of them are interviewing for other jobs and some want to stay in that area (Mississippi).

"I have some other people not on either the Duke or Ole Miss staffs I want to talk with, also. I already have one position filled. That's the offensive coordinator. That's going to me. We will want to hire a defensive coordinator as quickly as possible."

After meeting with the coaches, Sloan was to go immediately into a team meeting with Duke players.

"I don't know much about them other than a couple of running backs I met on the campus a few minutes ago," Sloan said. "We have short running backs. That doesn't mean they aren't good, but they are short. Maybe they can run under people."

What about Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year quarterback Ben Bennett?

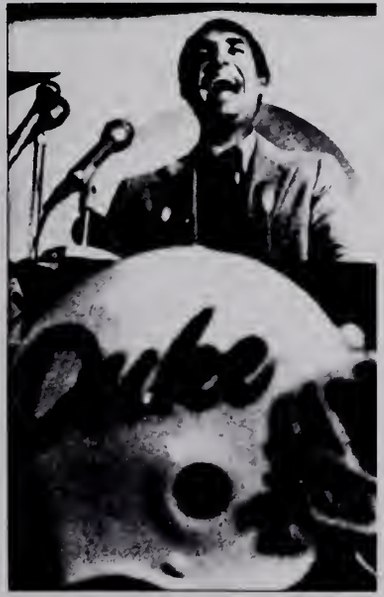

"Do I like the way Ben Bennett throws the football?" Sloan asked rhetorically. "That's like asking somebody if they like the way Bo Derek looks."

Sloan was to attend the North Carolina North-South Shrine high school all-star game today. He begins recruiting for Duke University Monday.

"I do not consider Duke's high academic requirements a detriment to recruiting as some people seem to perceive it," Sloan said. "To me, Duke has an advantage rather than a disadvantage. It's my opinion that there are a lot of good football players who are also good students.

"We are going to have to have a wide recruiting base, but I see no reason why we can't do in the East what Stanford has done in the West. I would like to believe that a great athlete who is also a great student would like Steve Sloan, Duke's new football coach, meets the press.

In 1962, people wondered if the University would survive James Meredith, the first black student to enroll at Ole Miss. Twenty years later, the nation again looked to Ole Miss as plans were made to observe the anniversary of the event.

The fact that the university announced a week of commemorative activities in itself indicated a great change from the University of the early 1960's. The announcement did not go unnoticed. Southern newspapers compiled special editions of the historic integration, and camera crews from all three major networks combed the campus during the week to see how attitudes had changed. The "Today Show" broadcast of changes since desegragation was felt by students and faculty to be a fair and accurate representation of the school.

Although most of Meredith's comments against the Rebel flag and "Dixie" came through interviews with newspapers, he did make one appearance here during the week. Meredith held a press conference after his speech while a panel of black students and alumni discussed the status of blacks today.

Although not proud of the events 20 years ago, the University proudly showed the nation that it has survived integration.

Progress still comes slowly, but it comes

An Analysis

By RAAD CAWTHON
Clarion-Ledger Staff Writer

In many ways it is as difficult to assess the meaning of James Meredith's integration of Ole Miss as it is to catch light in a bottle.

In the 20 years since the 29-year-old Meredith "went to war" to integrate the University of Mississippi, the country has gone through a wrenching metamorphosis. We have seen things we would have thought impossible in 1962: pitched battles fought in the streets of Chicago and Watts, our countrymen fighting and dying in Vietnam while we watched at the dinner table on color TV, a paranoid president bringing his administration down around him and being forced from the White House in dishonor.

Our recollection of the last two decades of America's history is a pastiche of national trauma.

When seen in the context of the numerous steps, many of them faltering and misplaced, that we as a country have taken in the years since, James Meredith's breaking of the Ole Miss color barrier seems a distant and somewhat muted event. Still, the desire of a single black man to attend the foremost university in the state shook Mississippi to its very foundations and whipped from many of its citizens the bitterest of gall.

Meredith's was a battle calculatingly fought and strategically won Mississippi, because of its reputation as the most racist of states, was a battlefield deliberately chosen. It is painful to recall the bitterness which met Meredith's actions. The communal memory is so painful that no one, no matter what side he chose, cares to dwell on it.

History is a cruel tutor. Today, it is hard to look with anything other than revulsion on how the flames of confrontation of 1962 were stoked by the fiery rhetoric of Gov. Ross Barnett.

It is frightening to recall that the massive power of the federal government had to be called in to make the stated national political policy of racial equality a reality in Mississippi.

The images of tear gas rolling across the campus, of rabid mobs of rioters, of prisoners chained to the trees of the Grove are horrid memories we don't want to believe. Not even when photographs of the time tell us they are true.

It eventually took more than 25,000 federal troops, more than were then in Vietnam, to allow Meredith to enroll at Ole Miss. Federal marshals were forced to remain at the school for months to ensure one man's safety.

These are hard and bitter memories. But they happened in all of their turmoil and blood. For those who find it hard to remember or believe, the columns of the Lyceum still hold the bullet scars.

"Bloody Sunday" was as close as the South has come to armed insurrection since the Civil War. But perhaps the most terrifying and pitiful aspect of it is that it was a horror Mississippi brought on itself.

In 1962 Mississippi stood as a fortress of segregation, a citadel to the idea that power begets power and that it can be used to whatever ends those who control it wish. The state's white ruling class chose to use that power to dominate both politically and emotionally the lives of the blacks. It was an aim at once base and doomed.

Meredith thought that breaking Ole Miss meant breaking not only a school but a centuries-old consciousness. It was the equivalent of facing up to the meanest bully on the block and backing him down. It meant that, with the power of the federal government firmly deployed behind him, a black could force even the most recalcitrant of institutions to abandon policies of racial prejudice.

But there was no way the civil rights movement which adopted Meredith could force the ideals of those people who operated the University of Mississippi or those students who attended it to change immediately.

Even today Meredith discounts the effect of his actions. In his opinion, things have regressed. Before 1962 the system was separate but equal. Now, he argues, it is integrated but unequal.

The "soldier" who carried the war to Ole Miss says things were better under segregation. He has been reluctant to help the school commemorate his actions, claiming he would be expected to praise progress where there has been little. Yet, early last week he agreed to take part.

Others see it differently. The only black administrator at the university and its only tenured black professor, Assistant Vice Chancellor Lucius L. Williams, is one of the people promoting a 10-day program to commemorate the anniversary of the school's integration.

"People here treat me with respect," he says. "There is racism all over this country, but Ole Miss and Mississippi are inclined to improve their images. If there is any change to take place, it will come from people like me coming back to see it happen."

Ole Miss has to be given high marks for wanting to commemorate an occasion which many want to forget. In drawing attention to the anniversary, the school has invited inspection. It must have realized some of it would be harsh. And it has also invited the question: "Have things really changed at Ole Miss?"

Students and residents say UM 'Today' segment fair

By Lynn Petrie
DM Staff Writer

Several Ole Miss students and Oxford residents agreed that Ole Miss' 20 years of [illegible]egation was fairly represented in a segment of NBC's Today Show Wednesday.

Roselyn Eberle, an assistant professor of journalism, said, as far as campus life goes, the Today Show covered the campus in a favorable way. But Eberle said the segment did point out the low number of black faculty at Ole Miss.

"However, they did point out that more black teachers are being recruited and that the school is working on improving the situation," Eberle said.

Charles Wilson, assistant professor of history and co-editor of the Encyclopedia of Southern Culture, said the segment was a very fair report.

"I felt it showed the life of the campus and the changes in 20 years in an overall favorable impression," Wilson said.

Joel Estes, station manager of WCBH radio, said the program was a good piece because it didn't present a negative view of the university.

"You can almost consider it a public relations promotion because there were little if any negative aspects," Estes said.

But one Ole Miss student, broadcast journalism major Kathryn Wegener, did find the segment a negative portrayal of campus life.

"I thought it was basically slanted toward how blacks and whites don't get along here," Wegener said.

"They showed that blacks and whites aren't comfortable together. I think they did not show how well the two races do get along here at Ole Miss," she said.

Joy Clark, housemother for an Ole Miss sorority, said that Ole Miss was given favorable coverage in the Today Show.

"What they were trying to do was to show how far blacks have come, and I feel that this was done fairly," Clark said.

The Daily Mississippian Editor Paul Crutcher said the segment on the Today Show was good and fair.

"It was the most representative thing I've seen done on Ole Miss this semester," Crutcher said.

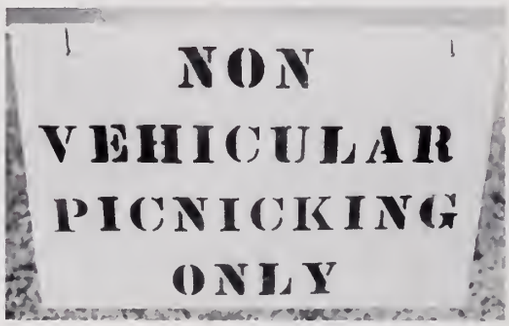

Protesters try to "SAVE THE GROVE"

While some worried about the reaction to Ole Miss's black cheerleader, before the football season's opening game, others worried about trees or where to park.

Traditionally alumni have gathered in the Grove for tailgate parties before and after the game, but concerned students and faculty protested the custom because of the damage the cars do to the roots of the 100-year-old trees.

Members of the "Save the Grove" organization strategically placed blankets around the trees and picnicked in sites traditionally occupied by alumni's cars. Assault charges were filed by protestors against the driver of one car, but the charges were dropped because the driver was never identified.

Students protest parking in The Grove

Clarion-Ledger Staff Writer

OXFORD — As traditionalists at Ole Miss boiled over the refusal of a black cheerleader to carry the Rebel flag here Saturday, some 25 protesters shielded 100-year-old trees from a custom which they say is killing the oaks, firs, dogwoods and elms.

The traditional use of a section of The Grove — an 8-acre triangular stand of trees — as a parking lot is killing some of the trees, proponents of a "Save the Grove" movement said before the University of Mississippi-Memphis State football game.

"They're ruining our trees," Ole Miss student Elizabeth Rankin said, pointing to the tree-lined midsection of the university campus. "People who wouldn't park cars on their own front lawn are parking here."

The newly organized group of students and University Sierrans, the campus unit of the Sierra Club, had laid pallets around the trees at The Grove's center by 9:30 a.m., and they stayed until at least game time.

The measure prevented some alumni and students from claiming their regular parking spots for pre-game socializing.

Mark Tew, a protester and assistant professor of electrical engineering, said the weight of the cars compacts the soil, killing tree root hairs and keeping oxygen and nutrients from circulating throughout the trees.

Three dying trees were cut down last week. A tree surgeon ruled on the cause of death — asphyxiation by root collapse.

"I don't think people realize when they're parking in The Grove that they're actually destroying it," said senior Patricia Larkin, who has tentative plans for a campout in The Grove this Friday, before Saturday's game against the University of Southern Mississippi.

Like many practices passed through Ole Miss generations, parking in The Grove represents a tradition — pre-game picnicking at the heart of the campus on football game days.

Some alumni and students viewed the movement as another in a series of assaults on school tradition.

The Grove, which is in the same configuration as it was in 1898, was off-limits for parking and picnicking last year during an extensive restoration and landscaping project. The area was reopened Saturday.

A new campus rule prohibits drivers of trucks, vans, jeeps and recreational vehicles from parking on the grounds.

Drivers appeared perturbed as they were forced to drive around the protesters' strategically laid blankets.

"For every blanket, that's one more tree you save," said Linda Lewis, executive committee member of the Choctaw Group of the Sierra Club, an organization that claims 75 members in northern Mississippi. "It's great for people to get togeth-

IFC says no to summer rush

Complex opening delayed

Fraternities may abolish summer rush

By Danny Reynolds

[illegible] Staff Writer

Fraternities will discuss tonight at chapter meetings whether to support a proposed resolution that would eliminate summer rush.

The resolution was recommended to the Interfraternity Council by a committee of fraternity presidents and the IFC advisers. If agreed upon by the fraternities, the proposal would then go before the IFC for a final vote Monday night.

IFC President Steve Pilgrim read portions of the proposal to a general meeting of the IFC last Monday night. The proposal calls for the elimination of fraternity rush parties during the summer. No prospective rushees would be allowed in fraternity houses during the summer, and correspondence with rushees by fraternity members, alumni or little sisters would be prohibited.

Ole Miss sororities have similar rules restricting summer rush, but they are allowed to correspond with rushees through letters.

The violation of any of the rush rules would place the fraternity involved on social probation, and any rushees involved would not be allowed to pledge a fraternity for one year.

Pilgrim urged fraternity representatives at the meeting to talk to their fraternities and discuss the proposal with them before Monday night's meeting.

"We really have to do this. Fraternity expenses are getting too high with rush assessments. We've got to stop or we are going to kill ourselves," Pilgrim said.

Alpha Tau Omega President Chris Cianciola said, "I feel the new summer rush rules will be the best for the fraternity system. I am very supportive of the proposal, but it will be up to the fraternities to make sure the rules are enforced."

"The proposal is very good," Kappa Alpha President Newell Turner said. "There is not any way we the fraternities can keep spending like we do. It can't solve itself and will only get worse. At our National Leadership Conference we were way out of line in regards to rush spending than all the other SA chapters at the conference. I'm sure the first year it will be hard to enforce, but year after year it will be easier," Turner said.

An IFC representative who asked not to be identified said he felt the proposal would be good, but the rules would never be enforced. "If they would just make the penalties realistic, then I feel the rules could be enforced."

Board compromise draft

Senate approves bill

By LAUREL ADAMS and JIMMY HENDERSON

DM Staff Writers

The ASB Senate voted unanimously Tuesday night to accept a select committee's compromise resolution to create an Ole Miss programming board.

The resolution, combining the ASB student activities committee with the Union Program Council, included parts of ASB President William Ray's original board plan and a bill introduced by Senators Jimmy Flanagin, Ben Logan and John Wagster.

Ray's plan called for a board independent of the ASB, while Logan's bill required Senate approval of the board's budget.

Senators Jan Wetzel and Will Travis co-authored the compromise which gives control of the board's budget to the Senate and the ASB president. According to the compromise bill, the budget will pass only if it has the approval of ⅔ of the Senate and the ASB president.

The new bill requires that Senators who oppose the board's budget go to the programming board's director, who would either elect to change the budget or leave it as is.

Fall Festival was a big success this year due to the bands, picnics and various events that constituted the week. The festival provided a good time for students to welcome each other back to school and enjoy themselves at the same time.

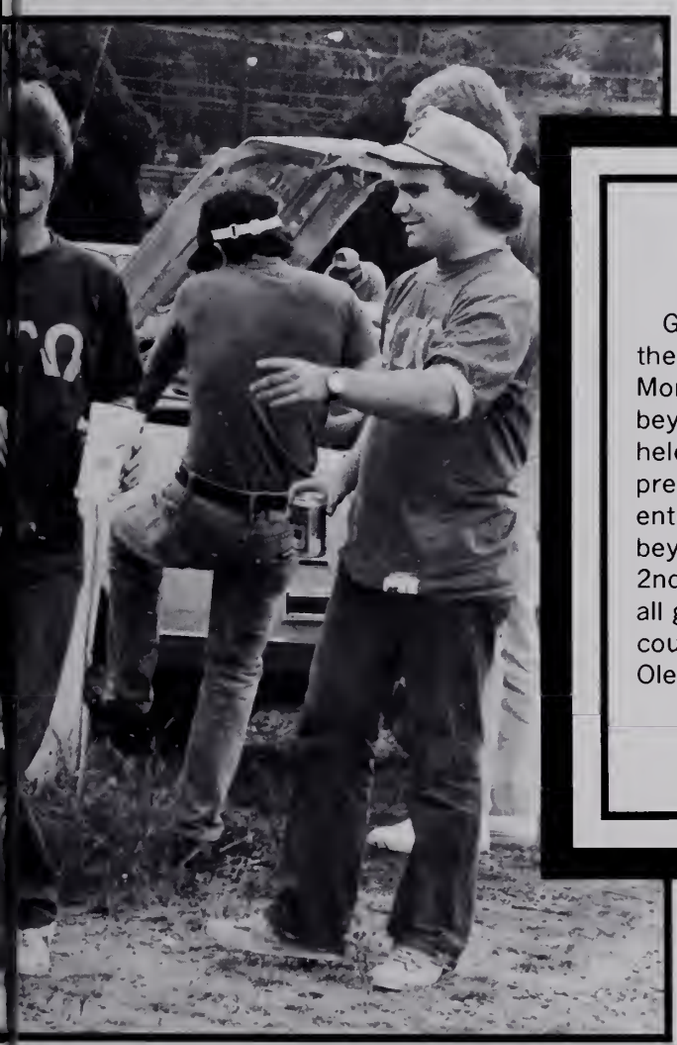

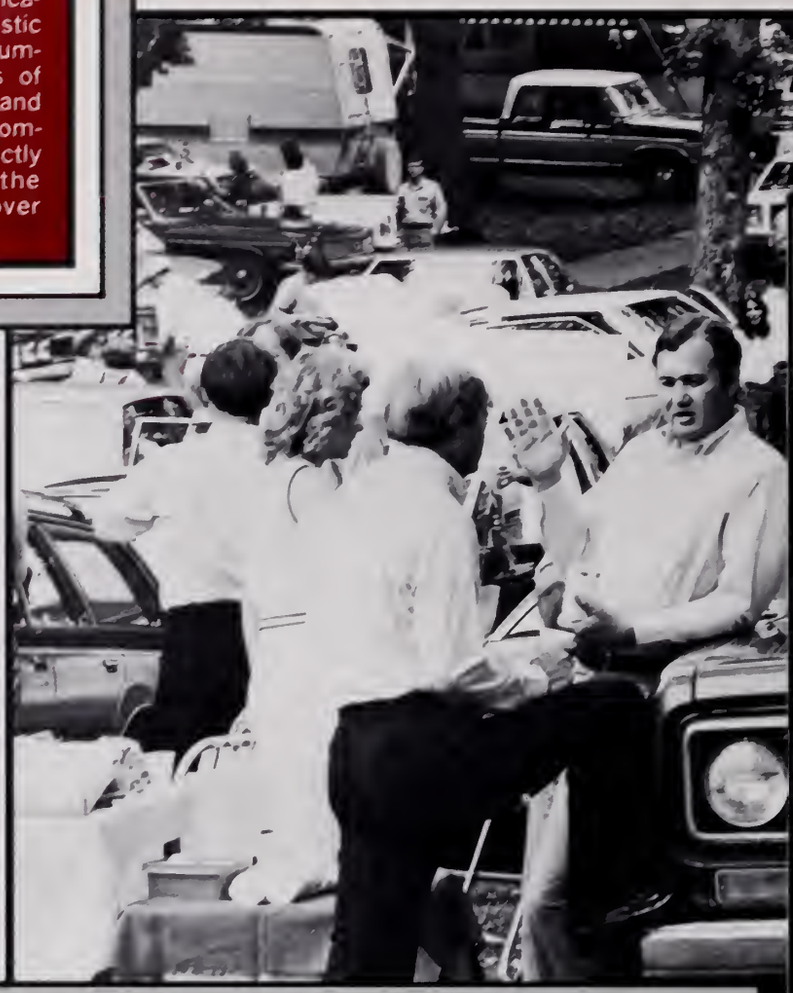

Greek Week

Greek Week '82 — October 4th through the 9th — started off with a pledge swap on Monday and the band "Climax" at the Abbey. On Tuesday Greek workshops were held in the Union headed by Panhellenic president Becky Smitheal. "The Mixx" entertained at the all greek party at the Abbey on Wednesday. Thursday hosted the 2nd annual Tailgate Party and on Friday an all greek block party was held at the tennis courts. Saturday ended the week with the Ole Miss-Georgia football game.

"We Are Ole Miss" — the theme of the 1982 Homecoming exemplified the spirit, loyalty, and dedication so characteristic of the Ole Miss alumni. The traditions of picnicing, parties, and a beautiful homecoming queen perfectly complimented the rebel victory over TCU.

Dorm Life

Dixie Week '82 got off to a great start with two new-wave bands on Monday and a bar-b-que on Tuesday. On Wednesday afternoon, the annual Ice Cream Social was held and on Thursday Gene Cotton and Michael Johnson entertained in the Grove. Friday closed out the week with the Shrimp Boil at Sardis.

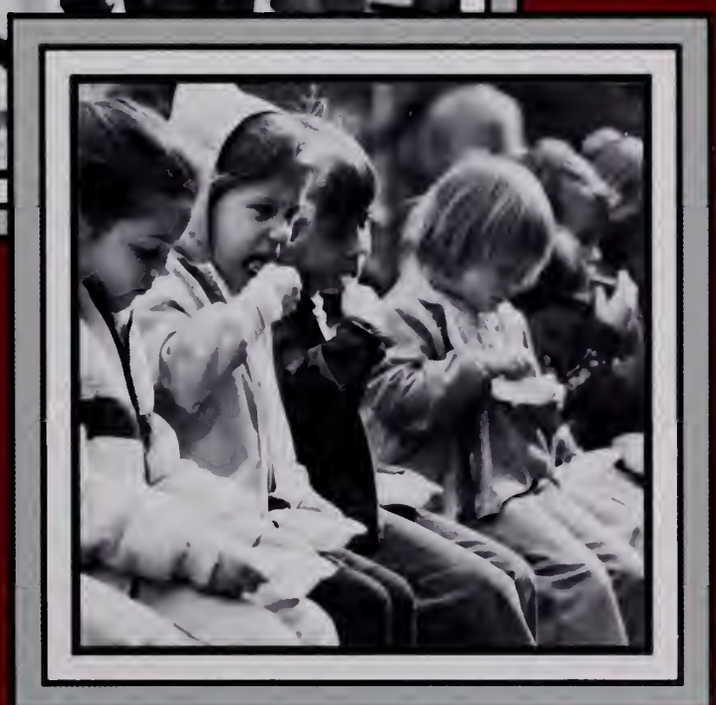

DIXIE WEEK•1982

Shrimp and Beer

The 1982 Dixie Week came to a dramatic end with the annual Shrimp and Beer blow-out at Sardis. The Mighty Majors entertained thousands of shrimp eaters and beer drinkers at the end of a week-long celebration. Frisbees, suntan lotion and coolers were on abound and added up to utter exhaustion for everyone present.

Leontyne Price

World-renowned operatic superstar Leontyne Price came back to Mississippi during the spring semester of 1982 for two appearances, one of which marked the centennial observance of the admission of women to the University of Mississippi.

On Wednesday, April 21, Miss Price appeared at a convocation in Fulton Chapel on the Ole Miss campus and sang three arias, flawlessly delivered, and the fast-paced and invigorating spirituals "Witness" and "Every Time I Feel The Spirit."

Miss Price, perhaps the most celebrated soprano of this century, was born in Laurel, Mississippi and studied at the Julliard School of Music. Her climb to fame was meteoric and her subsequent awards and honors too numerous to mention. Ole Miss was proud to host this truly once-in-a-lifetime performance.

Theatre

The theatre department sponsored two fine productions for the fall season, Jean Anouil's classic "Antigone" and the Homecoming musical "Chicago."

"Antigone" is the modern treatment of the ancient tragedy by Sophacles. Written during the Nazi occupation of Paris, the drama is a powerful presentation of a classical theme.

The bawdy, action-packed "Chicago" was presented as the 1982 Homecoming musical. Depicting Chicago in the roaring twenties, the music and dancing were performed with a definite professional touch.

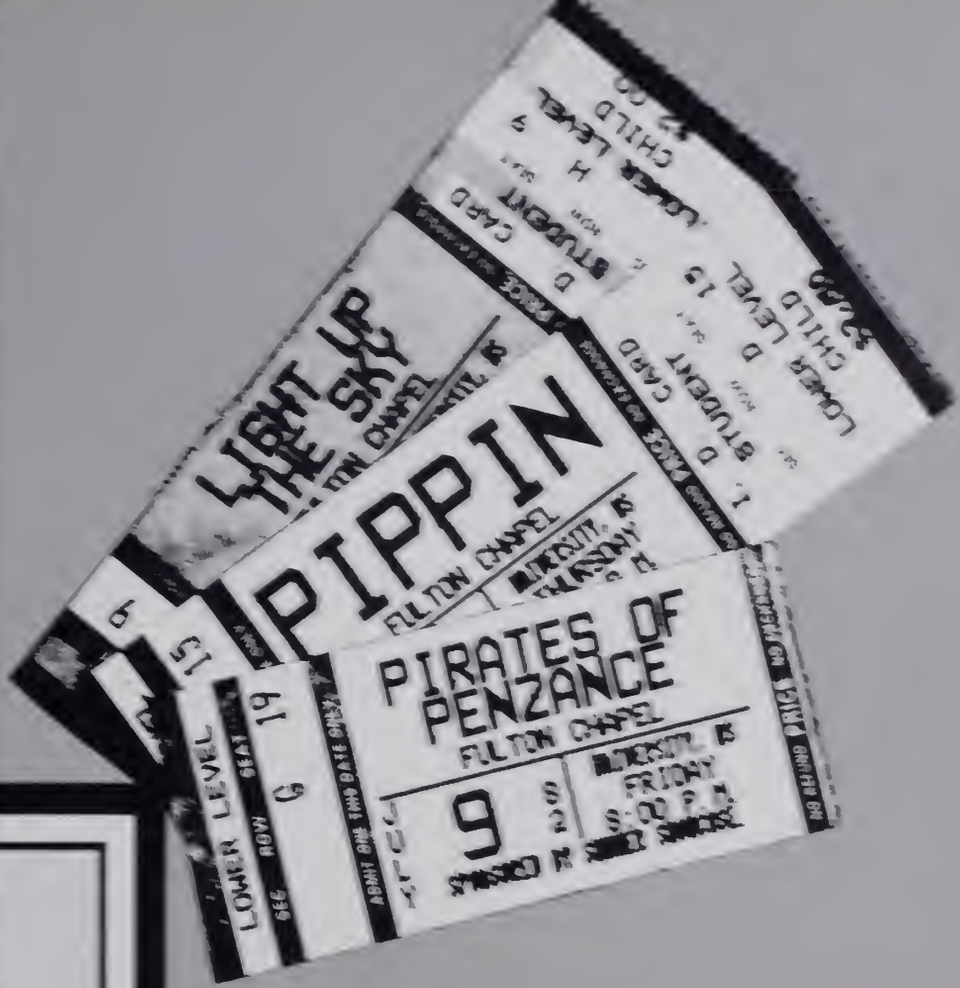

Summer Showcase '82

The theatre department's summer showcase was a particular success this year and included such ambitious undertakings as "Light Up The Sky," Moss Hart's inside look at the world of theatre; "Pippin," a joyous romp set in medieval times; and the award-winning "Pirates of Penzance," the Gilbert-Sullivan comic operator depicting the glory and excitement of Victorian England.

Artist Series

The 1982 Artist Series provided a wide variety of programs geared toward interesting and entertaining students throughout the school year. Included were Woody Herman and the Young Thundering Herd, the internationally famous Prague Symphony Orchestra, the Mummenshanz troup of mimes; Andre Michel Schub, concert pianist; the Ballet Folklorico Nacional de Mexico, a folk dance extravaganza; and the entertaining Jack Daniels Original Silver Concert Band.

UNION

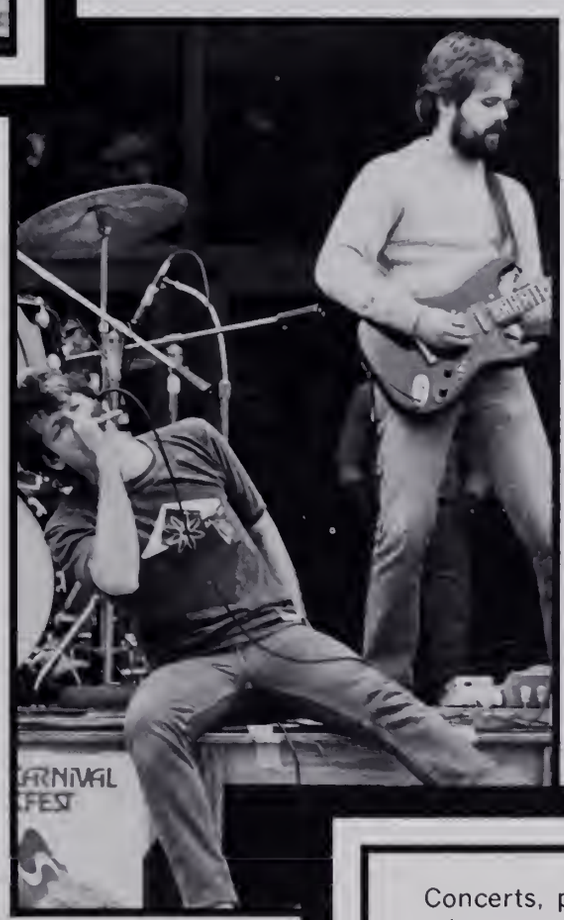

Concerts, picnics, speakers, seminars, and fashion shows were just some of the events and activities sponsored at the Ole Miss Union. Truly the Union is the focal point of the campus and the Union Program Council headed by Mark Mead provided a wide variety of entertainment for everyone at the university.

RUSH

Rush is a week-long series of parties for both fraternities and sororities in order to get to know the new freshmen. Intense competition between clubs climaxes during this week to see who will get the best pledge class.

Colonel Rebel and Miss Ole Miss

Leslie Andrews Ty Cobb

Colonel Rebel and Miss Ole Miss for 1982-1983 are Ty Cobb and Leslie Andrews. Leslie is a senior from Greenville, Mississippi who is majoring in Elemenatry Education. Being very active on the Ole Miss campus, she is a Varsity Cheerleader and Assistant Pledge Trainer for the Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Leslie's other activities included the Union Program Council, Student Alumni Council, Ambassadors, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Little Sister. Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Rho Lambda and the Chancellor's List are a few of her honors. When Leslie finds time to herself she enjoys painting and needlepoint. This year's Colonel Reb is a senior marketing major from Jackson, Mississippi. Ty is also a Varsity Cheerleader who has been Head Cheerleader for two years, involved in the Associated Student Body Senate and Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. His honors include Omicron Delta Kappa, Order of Omega, Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, and the CBS Major League Sports Player of the Year Award. Both Leslie and Ty are very active on the Ole Miss campus and represent it well.

Sherry Hales

Philedelphia, Mississippi is the hometown of this co-ed beauty. Sherry, a junior majoring in communicative disorders, is a member of Phi Mu sorority, Association of Women Students, Committee of 100, and Campus Crusade for Christ. In her three years at Ole Miss, Sherry has received many honors. They include: Pi Kappa Alpha Little Sister, Bat Girl for the Baseball Team, Homecoming Maid in 1982, and Top Ten Best Dressed. In addition she was chosen a Pike Calendar Girl for 1982, a campus beauty, and a varsity cheerleader that same year. Doing needlework and playing softball are Sherry's favorite pastimes.

Susan, affectionately called "Bug" by her friends, is a sophomore from Jackson majoring in Nursing. With a bubbling personality that endears her to many, she was elected Rush Chairman of her sorority, Pi Beta Phi and is also a Sigma Chi Little Sister. Susan can be found attending Reformed University Fellowship on Wednesday nights and she also enjoys her involvement in the Associated Student Body Spirit Committee. Visiting her older sister here, Susan grew to love Ole Miss. Wanting to attend college in state, Ole Miss was a natural choice. A dinner at Mr. Gattis with a coke is an ideal date for her. She also enjoys traveling, water and snow skiing, camping and riding bikes.

Perry Eaton

Perry is another favorite from Jackson. A junior with a double major in Managerial and Banking Finance, this energetic girl personifies Ole Miss spirit. She has been a varsity cheerleader for two years, and was a freshman cheerleader. Perry is also a member of Chi Omega Sorority, Reformed University Fellowship, Welcoming Committee, and co-chairman of the Roundball Recruiters. She also finds time for involvement in the Student Alumni Council, Association for Women Students' Scholarship Committee, and Committee of 100. A few of Perry's honors include being in Pi Sigma Epsilon and a Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity Little Sister. When Perry is not cheering on the Rebels or being involved with Ole Miss in any way, she can be found horseback riding or practicing gymnastics.

Even when first meeting Melanie, she seems like an old friend, her charm and wit put people at ease. A junior majoring in journalism and English, Melanie comes to us from Franklin, Tennesse. Delta Delta Delta being one of Melanie's favorite activities, she was actively involved as model pledge, pledge trainer, and Derby Day Chairman. Campus involvement is another top priority for this favorite who is a member of Angel Flight, Welcoming Committee, Pre Law Society, and is an Associated Student Body Executive Secretary. Melanie has also earned a place in the University Scholars program and is honored with membership in Lambda Sigma. She enjoys being a Sigma Chi Little Sister and her hobbies include photography, golf, and ballet. The spirit of Ole Miss first attracted Melanie — a spirit she is now a part of.

Allison Cole

Allison, everyones' favorite, comes to us from the Lone Star state and makes her home in Dallas. As a senior majoring in journalism, Allison's by-line can be found in the Daily Mississippian. She finds time for activities in her sorority Kappa Kappa Gamma as well as the Union Program Council, the Student Welcoming Committee and Ambassadors. Allison enjoys Christian fellowship, attending Reformed University Fellowship and Campus Crusades. She is also honored with being selected for Lambda Sigma. This girl's running list of activities even includes marathons. An accomplished runner, Allison was chosen to go to Brazil for the Run of the Century earlier this year where she represented America's youth. With a ready smile, Allison enjoys making friends all over campus.

A blue-eyed beauty from Duck Hill, Mississippi, Beth is a senior majoring in special education. A member of Delta Gamma sorority, Beth was honored by being elected Homecoming Queen for the 1982-83 year. Outgoing from the start, Beth made quite an impression her freshman year by being elected Pi Kappa Alpha Little Sister, Pike calendar girl and Homecoming maid. Well rounded, Beth enjoys her involvement in Committee of 100 and Reformed University Fellowship. Her hobbies include cross-stitching, swimming, and mainly spending time with her many friends. After graduating from Ole Miss Beth hopes to receive her master's in education for the deaf.

Daphne Park

Madison, Mississippi proudly claims Daphne Park, a senior majoring in court reporting. Daphne, a true achiever, was chosen as first alternate to Most Beautiful last year and is now the reigning Miss University. A graceful addition to the campus, she is a member of Tri-Delt sorority of which she is a Panhellenic Representative. She is Sigma Nu Sweetheart and president of their little sisters, a Mortar Board and ODK member, and active on the Association of Women Students' Publicity Committee. Daphne adds beauty to the Modeling Board, is a member of Angel Flight and the Rebel Recruiters. Snow skiing and playing the piano — a talent which helped her capture the Miss University title — are among this favorite's activities.

An Alpha Omicron Pi from Yazoo City, Laura has been a varsity cheerleader as well as a freshman cheerleader. A junior majoring in accounting, Laura is not only a favorite on campus but she is also a favorite within her sorority. This popularity earned her the title of model pledge, chaplain, and recording secretary. During the weekly meetings of the Associated Student Body, Committee of 100 and Senate, one can find Laura contributing her ideas. Academically, she has excelled by being chosen for the Chancellor's Honor Roll and the Dean's List. She is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Lambda Sigma, and Phi Eta Sigma. Holidays are among Laura's favorite times because it is a time when the family can be together Gymnastics and drawing are also on her list of favorites.

A senior majoring in banking and finance, Susan is from nearby Memphis. She enjoys involvement in many campus activities. These include AWS Projects Committee, Rebel Recruiter, Financier's Club, Business School Advisory Committee, officer in Pi Sigma Epsilon and Sigma Nu little sister. Susan enjoys her sorority, Phi Mu, and was honored by being elected rush chairman last year and Panhellenic Officer. She was elected to the prestigous sorority honorary, Rho Lambda and holds an office in Mortar Board. Always seen with a smile, Susan loves the outdoors, especially when she can enjoy her favorite sport, water skiing. She also enjoys working with church youth. Listed among her favorite foods are ice cream and melba toast — not necessarily together. Susan says Ole Miss has something special that no other campus has. We say Ole Miss has something special in Susan.

Angela, a senior majoring in journalism, hails from Jackson, our capital city. Involved is the word that best describes Angela. Her list of impressive titles include President of the Association for Women Students, former AWS Women's Emphasis Director, Vice-President of her proud sorority, Delta Gamma, a campus senator and a member of Angel Flight. Angela has been bestowed with many honors in her years at Ole Miss. They include being selected for the 1983 Hall of Fame, the Taylor Medal in Journalism, Outstanding Woman of the Junior Class, Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa. When Angela is not running from one meeting to the next, she enjoys eating ice cream and listening to her favorite jazz music

The Rebels kicked off their season with two wins in Oxford — the first, a 27-10 thrashing of the Memphis State Tigers and the second, a stunning 28-19 upset over the Eagles of Southern Mississippi. While the first win began the year on a positive note, the second game against USM was probably the biggest win of the 1982 season. This "little war," fought by an emotional Rebel squad, resulted in such memorable plays as a 48 yard TD pass from sophomore quarterback Kent Austin to junior receiver Tim Moffett. With success like this and with visions of returning glory stirring the Ole Miss fans, the Rebs then prepared to take on an even more dangerous foe — the Crimson Tide of Alabama. In this SEC opener in Jackson, the Rebs found themselves victims of the unending depth of Bear Bryant's awesome team, and Ole Miss lost the game 42-14. Then the following week in Arkansas, Ole Miss had a chance for another win, but when Todd Gatlin missed a 48 yard field goal attempt, the Rebels suffered their second defeat of the season 14-12. Next the Rebels traveled to Georgia to meet Herschel Walker and company between the Hedges. In this game, the Rebs came out on top in every statistic except the final score, and they lost 33-10. Then at last, the Rebels came home to Oxford where they took on Texas Christian and came away with a refreshing 27-9 Homecoming win.

The Rebels then lost two road games — the first at Vanderbilt where nothing went right, and the second at LSU where even less went right. After these two disappointing losses 19-10 and 45-8, respectively, Ole Miss came home to Jackson to play the remaining three games in friendlier surroundings. Desperately needing to win and win big, the Rebs, led by Kent Austin, finally put together thier most convincing win and sent the Tulane Green Wave back to New Orleans with a 45-14 thrashing. Austin, in this contest, shattered previous SEC records by completing 18 of 19 passes for a total of 269 yards and two big touchdowns. Austin again put on a dazzling aerial display the next week gaining 381 yards against Tennessee, but this time the Rebels lost to the Volunteers 27-9. So finally, the Rebels went into the last game of the season with a disheartening 4-6 record that put away any hopes for a bowl bid or even a winning season. Then, as rumors concerning Coach Sloan's job rocked the program, Chancellor Porter Fortune announced before the Mississippi State game that Sloan would be back to coach the Rebels in '83 should Ole Miss "win, lose, or draw" against MSU. But in the end, Ole Miss lost the game 27-10 and ended the season at 4-7.

Point guard Cecil Dowell directs the Rebs at the offensive end of the floor.

In his first year as Rebel mentor, Coach Lee Hunt confronted a pressure situation, and he rose to the occasion by bringing out the best in the gutsy 1982-1983 Rebel basketball squad. For the past three years, Ole Miss had played in either the NCAA or the NIT tournaments, and this season was to be no different. Headed by senior Carlos Clark, this Rebel lineup was an impressive one. Clark, who was possibly the best small forward in the nation, paced the offense. Sophomore guard Eric Laird handled the toughest defensive assignments, while senior center Roger Stieg was the most consistent and improved player on the team. With such talented players as these, the Rebs stayed at the top of the most balanced conference in the nation and thus earned a bid to participate in post-season play.

LADY REBEL BASKETBALL

The 1982-1983 version of Lady Rebel basketball brought even more success to the nationally prominent Ole Miss program. When Coach Van Chancellor's girls took to the court, opponents could expect aggressive play at both ends of the floor. The Lady Rebs boasted an explosive offensive attack that resulted in their scoring over 100 points on at least six occasions. While averaging 86 points per contest, Ole Miss held their opponents to an average of only 63 points per game. Also, the Lady Rebels were regulars in the AP top twenty as they mounted up the wins that assured them a post-season tournament bid.

Rebel Tennis

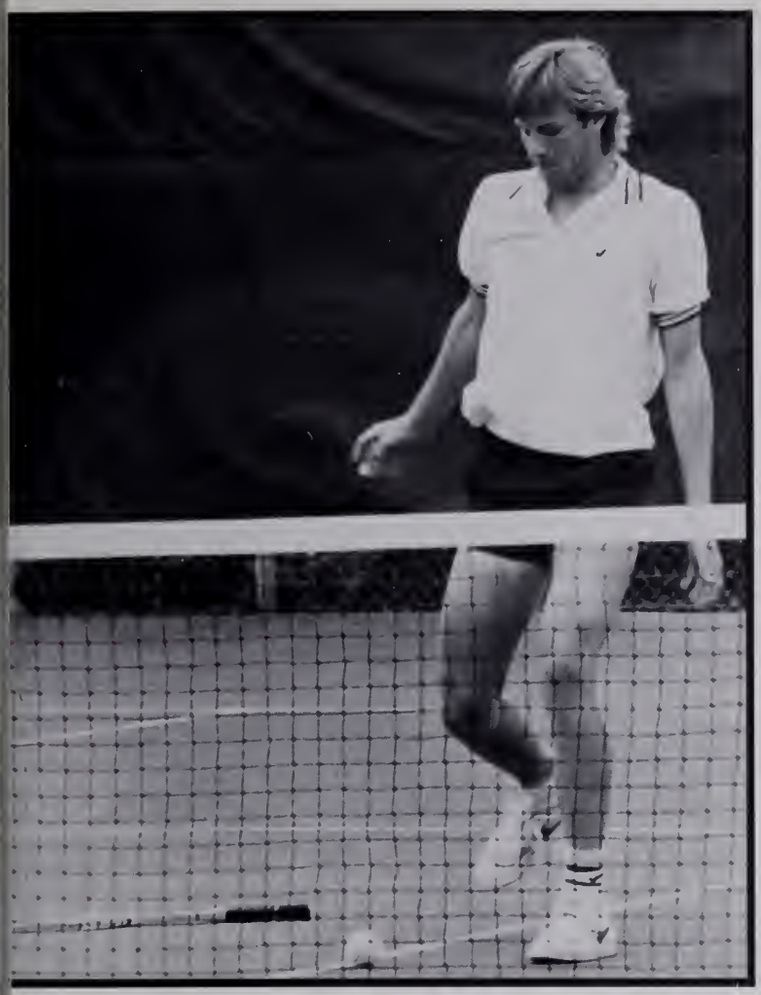

There were five new faces in the 1982-1983 Rebel tennis team line-up in addition to three returning players. This young team enjoyed a balanced team effort and a depth of talent, especially in the bottom team positions. Coach Billy Chadwick, in his first year as men's tennis coach, worked to upgrade the Rebel schedule and to move the Rebels up into the top half of the Southeastern Conference.

The 1983 Lady Rebel tennis team looked to the leadership of experienced players who had led the team to second place finishes in both the SEC and AIAW Region III tournaments during the 1982 season. MAIAW all-staters Fran Spencer and Barbara Smith, along with Pattie Harrison who was also on the all-AIAW Region III team, provided the stability for a team that had no one individual leader. Instead, this team, in Coach Billy Chadwick's summation, was one that worked together "just to keep the tennis ball going back to the opponent's side of the net."

Congratulations conclude an exciting match.

"The entire team is returning so we are again looking for a good season."

REBEL GOLF

Expectations were high for the Rebel golf team that boasted a roster of talented and experienced golfers who had led the team to a second place finish in the Southeastern Conference during the previous season. Senior Randy Watkins, who won the 1982 SEC individual title, was also named to the All-SEC first team which was a first for Ole Miss. An Honorable Mention All-American, Watkins was also the first Ole Miss golfer invited to the NCAA Division I Championships since 1972. Watkins combined his efforts with those of All-SEC teamer junior Gary Martin and 1982 Freshman of the year Dave Pegee to make the Rebels one of the strongest teams in the conference.

"Last year's team finished second in the SEC. I feel that this team was the best ever at Ole Miss. This year we have four out of five returning starters and look forward to an even better season."

Improvement was the goal for the 1982-83 Lady Rebel Volleyball team. With the addition of five top-flight newcomers and with improvements from the returning players, the team worked to better their 26-27 season record from the previous year. With five new girls in the program, the Lady Rebs faced both a tough schedule and a season of adjustment. Seniors Donna Fielder, Cindy Huber and Kelly Viner filled the leadership roles on the team with Viner assuming the role of vocal leader as the season progressed. The 1982-83 season also set the foundation for a bright future for Lady Rebel Volleyball.

REBEL TRACK

All-SEC runner Wally Bumpus competes in a relay.

Coach Joe Walker's 1982-83 track team experienced another year of improvement and made considerable progress in establishing a reputation for themselves both in the conference and nationally. Led by jumper Ralph Spry who was the Rebel's first All-American in track and field, the Ole Miss track team featured some outstanding athletes. All-SEC runner Wally Bumpus was the 400-meter indoor champ while Tony Dees was the team's leading scorer. Spry, Bumpus, and Dees were also joined by Gary Kinder in qualifying for the NCAA Outdoor Meet in Provo, Utah. And finally, the cross-country team also had a banner year, finishing sixth in the Southeastern Conference.

REBEL BASEBALL

What a difference a year and a deep pitching staff made for the 1982 Ole Miss Rebel baseball squad. After a 24-24-1 season in 1981 and a third place finish in the Southeastern Conference's Western Division, the Rebels made the climb to the top and captured the division title and owned a 33-19-1 ledger.

Coach Jake Gibbs, in his eleventh year at the Rebel helm, compiled an excellent pitching staff consisting of all underclassmen. Three juniors, five sophomores and a freshman gave Gibbs needed depth in the pitching corps to handle the rough SEC campaign. After posting a 5.14 Earned Run Average (ERA) in 1981, the youngsters almost chopped that figure in half, registering a team ERA of 3.80.

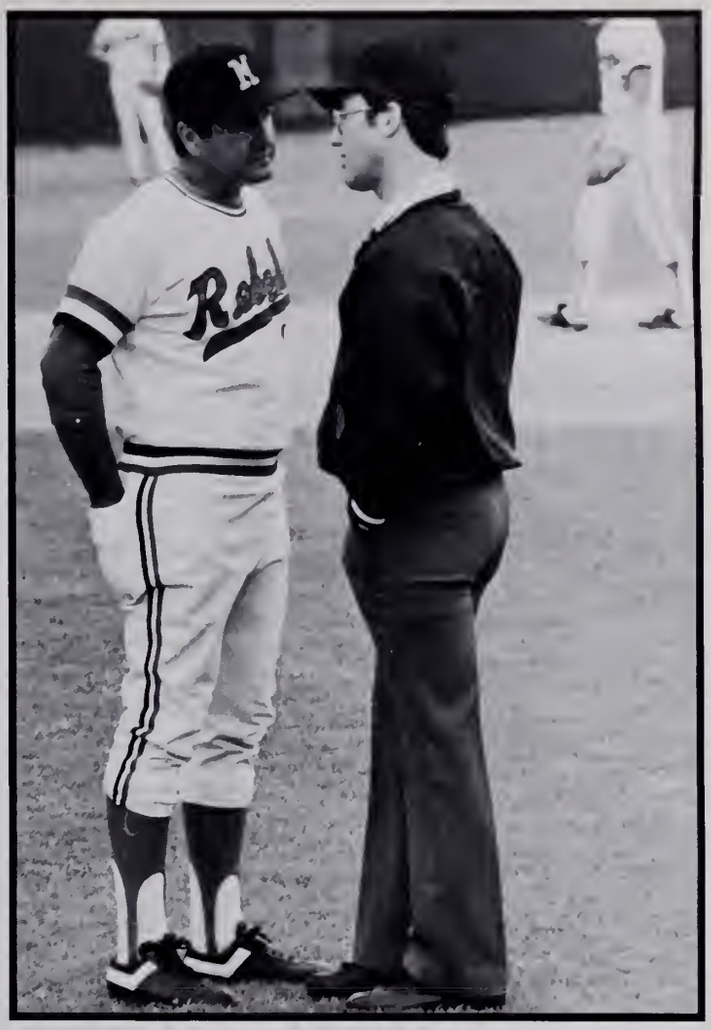

Mike Pickens avoids the tag at first base.

"The contribution from our young pitching staff was one of the main factors in the team's success."

— Coach Jake Gibbs

Freshman pitcher Bryan Farmer had the lowest ERA on the squad with 2.09. The 5-11, 155-pounder was 7-4 on the season, but lost eartbreakers to fourth-ranked Oral Roberts 4-3, Mississippi State 1-0, nd an extra-inning affair with Alabama which could have conceivably ave made him 10-1 on the year. Sophomore Laddie Renfroe, a ghthander, owned the team's best record which was a 6-0 mark with npressive wins over Alabama, Mississippi State, and Auburn. Lefty lark Dennis, a junior, and righty Gary Nicholson rounded out the arters for Ole Miss as they owned 5-4 and 4-3 records, respectively.

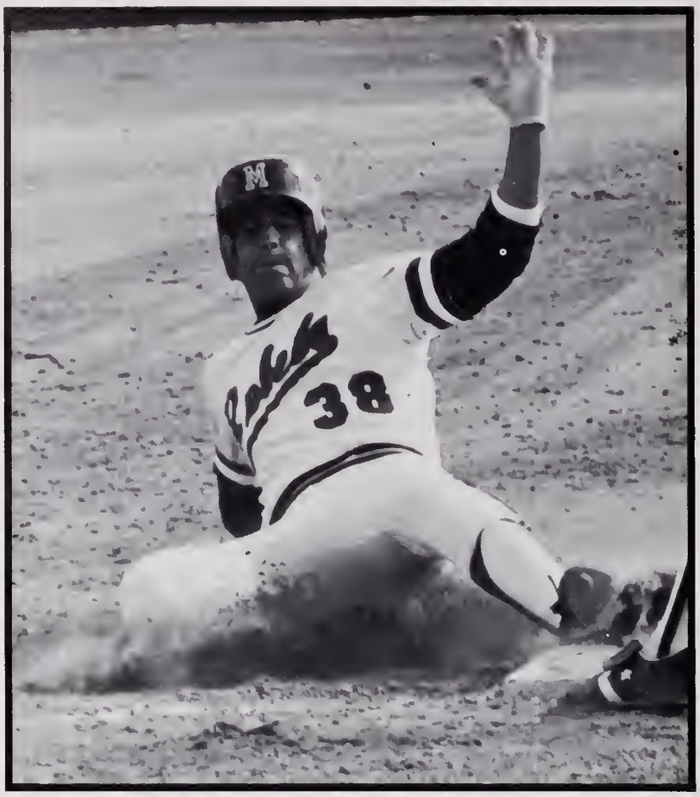

Juniors Jim Colmer and Darryl Graham, along with sophomore Ramie ord, were the stoppers out of the bullpen for Ole Miss, piling up even wins and a pair of saves among the trio.

At the plate, the Rebels were a team that rallied in the late innings to ull out victories, and that one fact is the reason Ole Miss was in every ontest to the end. A perfect example occurred on April 25 as the ebels hosted eleventh-ranked Memphis State. Entering the bottom of ne eighth frame, Ole Miss trailed 2-0. The Rebs notched a single run in ne eighth on a sacrifice fly from centerfielder Guy Summerlin. Then fter holding the Tigers scoreless in their half of the ninth, the Rebels von the contest on RBI-singles by Scott Crutcher and Junior Rogers to ake a typical 1982 come-from-behind victory, 3-2.

Highlighting the Ole Miss offensive attack was senior shortstop David Clements. The three-time Western Division pick set the all-time SEC career doubles mark with a total of 49. Clements also tied the career homerun mark at Ole Miss with 27, was five short of tying for the most hits in a career, fifteen short in the RBI category, and six shy in runs. Though Clements was in hot pursuit of several records, Ken Houser, Mark Johnson, and Summerlin carried the big bats for the Rebels. Houser led the team with a batting average of .319. Johnson was second at .312, and Summerlin was next batting at a .290 clip.

Other regulars were firstbaseman Andy Underwood who owned a .284 average, Clements .263, Senior thirdbaseman Scott Crutcher at .262, secondbaseman Kirk Hanson .256 and catcher Bill Blair with a .248 percentage.

The Rebels had a pair of winning streaks of five or more games during the season, and they did not lose more than two games in a row during the '82 campaign. Other interesting notes during the season were reserve shortstop Chuck Rouse's two doubles in the seventh inning against Southern Illinois on March 19, tying a SEC record, and a twelve-game hitting streak by Rogers which was the longest of any Rebel during the year. Finally, the Rebels ended the 1982 campaign first with a win over Tennessee and then with two close losses to Florida and Tennessee in the Sec Tournament in Gainesville, Florida.

REBEL CHEERLEADERS

The Ole Miss Cheerleading squad holds the distinction of being recognized as one of the top squads in not one, but two separate cheerleading organizations, the National Cheerleading Association and the Universal Cheerleading Association. Selected as one of the best groups in the nation, the squad, led by captain Frank Parker also won several awards at their summer cheerleading camp at Memphis State University.

ASB Cabinet

Each year the Associated Student Body Cabinet provides the vital function of linking the student government with the students. Cabinet officials coordinate such broad areas of campus life as school spirit, academic affairs, and university relations, and take responsibility for specific programs like Dixie Week, Legislative Day, Refrigerator Rentals, Traffic Appeals, and Film Series. Each ASB Cabinet officer, with the assistance of sub-cabinet committee chairmen, organizes and operates an important government department with the overall goal of achieving an effective service relationship with the student body.

Their success in reaching this objective each year is dependent upon student interest, input, and participation, each of which aids the Cabinet's efforts to make the Ole Miss student's relationship to his student government a positive one.

Having served the University of Mississippi of over fifty years, the Baptist Student Union continues to make available outstanding programs of spiritual and religious emphasis. BSU is a campus organization involving Christian university students. It is a fellowship of Christians with two general objectives: to help students grow and mature in their Christian faith, and then to share their faith through ministry, service and witness. BSU provides programs which will give students the opportunity to live a vital, well-rounded Christian life while in college.

President: Bonnie Vaughan
Vice-President: Kathy Adams
Corresponding Secretary: Connie Coakle
Secretary: Gay Loyakano
Treasurer: Sharon Stevens
Historian: Anita Moore
Reporter: D D Dowden

The University of Mississippi Shorthand Reporters Association offers court reporting students an opportunity to learn more about their field. Programs presented by lawyers, professional reporters, and court officials give valuable insight into the field of court reporting. This year's programs include topics of ethics, dress, and new technology. The court reporting program is unique to any university in the South and UMSRA strives to strengthen this program's respectability.

Financiers

The Financiers Club is an organization which seeks to acquaint interested students with outstanding businessmen and bankers from Mississippi and surrounding states. Sponsored by the Chair of Banking, the Financiers provide business majors an opportunity to listen and speak to knowledgeable leaders in business community.

By bringing well informed speakers to the University, the Financiers Club hopes to present students with interesting and relevant issues concerning business and banking.

WCBH Radio

WCBH is a student operated radio station where students can gain valuable experience on how to operate radio equipment and also get on-air experience. WCBH radio began in the mid-20's and was one of the first college stations in the country. Any student, regardless of major, can work at WCBH. The staff is selected by a panel based on previous work at WCBH, recommendations from the outgoing staff, and academic standing. During the 1982-83 school years, WCBH expanded its programming to include Ole Miss football and basketball, Mississippi State football, Dallas Cowboys football, the Sports Hotline shows which included Ole Miss coach Steve Sloan, and the Mississippi News Network. Music at WCBH is adult contemporary music. WCBH broadcasts over Cable FM 90 and for part of the year over tv channel 12. The station is in the process of applying for an FCC license and within a year should be broadcasting over the air without the aid of cable.

UPC

The Union Program Council is the executive student committee of the Ole Miss Union. The Council is responsible for providing educational, social, cultural, and recreational opportunities for Ole Miss students and other members of the campus community. The Council is made up of seven committees that provide programming related to that committee.

The ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE selects entertainment acts or pgorams of interest for the campus community. The Fall Festival, one of the biggest events of the fall each year, is coordinated by this committee.

The UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL FILM SERIES shows films every Wednesday of the schoolyear and on special event days like Fall Festival.

The FINE ARTS COMMITTEE sponsors art exhibits in the lobby, the campus poetry and photography contests and books bands for our "Jazz on Tuesday" program.

Those participating in the LECTERN COMMITTEE are responsible for bringing speakers to the Ole Miss Campus. Lectures range from "Who Shot J.F.K.?" to the prosecuting attorney in the Chales Manson case.

The MINORITY ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE provides events of interest to the minority groups on campus. This committee also works with other areas of the university community whose objectives are similar.

Shows and spontaneous programs such as coffeehouses, Rebel Week, and the Ole Miss College Bowl and Trivia Bowl are brought to you by the SPECIAL EVENTS COMMITTEE of the UPC.

The TRAVEL/RECREATION COMMITTEE of the Council sponsors Lectures and Travel Information of interest to the entire student body.

UPC Chairman: Mark Mead

SAPHA

The Student American Pharmaceutical Association introduces its members to the practical world of pharmacy. Weekly drug fairs are held during the year to acquaint the students with different drug representatives and companies. An annual Pharmacy Bowl is also sponsored to prepare members for questions that will be asked on the state board tests. Speakers from different pharmaceutical careers help in informing the students. Each year ends with the Pharmacy Olympics and Picnic where third, fourth and fifth year students compete against each other in sports.

President: Karl Ott
Vice-President: Jeff Yates
Secretary/Treasurer: Sharon Moore

Black Student Union

The Black Student Union at Ole Miss has many objectives. Its programs are designed to assist black students in all areas of campus life: political, academic and social. The group also advises black students of their legal rights. BSU's main objective is to identify with the black students at Ole Miss as they participate in campus life.

Just What Is RHA?

The Residence Hall Association has been designed to act as a liaison between individual halls and the University itself. RHA provides a legislative and Judicial system for each hall, as well as one unified system for all halls. Every fall, respective halls choose their RHA representatives by petition. At the end of every spring semester the outgoing representatives elect the executive council for the upcoming year. The primary function of RHA is to make residence hall living more enjoyable. This is achieved through programs such as room personalization, education and, of course, entertainment. Our main purpose at RHA is to make you, the resident enjoy the residence life here on the Ole Miss campus.

The Beta Lambda Epsilon Fraternity originated from the mother chapter, Memphis State University, in 1966 and is held alive by the Ole Miss chapter. The objective of this fraternity is to associate persons who are in collegiate preparation and professional police services to keep abreast of the advances in scientific research and to evaluate applicable standards.

PRE-LAW SOCIETY

The Ole Miss Pre-law Society is an undergraduate student organization which provides its members with information concerning law school. Each year the society brings students together for a tour of the law school, talks from various law professors and law students, and even a party. Members can gain courtroom experience by serving as jurors for Moot Court. The Pre-law Society includes prospective law students from freshmen to seniors and from all majors.

Jazz Band

The Mississippians

Jazz has been alive and well for 85 years at the University of Mississippi. Since the mid-1920's, the "Mississippians" has been one of the University's most important musical representatives in putting Ole Miss' best foot forward in every regard. With the "Collegians" being the No. 2 Jazz Ensemble, its membership is a very important building block in the Ole Miss jazz program. The "Mississippians" perform on and off campus 15 to 25 times each year and have won every competitive regional jazz festival that they have entered during the past five years. 22 of its members have won "Outstanding Musician" awards and two members have been awarded "Most Outstanding Musician." Each year, an alumni musicians reunion is held on or near the campus, which draws alumni musicians from all parts of the country. The Director of the University Jazz Ensemble and Co-founder of the Ole Miss Alumni Jazz Reunion is Dr. John McCauley, Associate Professor of Music.

SAC

Organized in the fall of 1980, the Student Alumni Council consists of a structured board of directors, subcommittees, and university students. The SAC assists the Alumni Association in the organization of alumni programs, the coordination of alumni reunions, the hosting of faculty/staff and football luncheons, and the welcoming of alumni to the university campus during football weekends with pre-game coffees and receptions. The Council is involved in several projects including the Red/Blue Run, sponsored during Dixie Week, a Christmas party, ABC, a student development program, and a monthly newsletter.

Leslie Andrews

1982's Miss Ole Miss, Leslie Andrews, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Andrews of Greenville, Miss. The Delta native is majoring in elementary education, and is a familiar face on campus because of her involvement. Elected a cheerleader four years, and a campus favorite this year, Leslie is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, and has been an ROTC sponsor and Ole Miss Ambassador. Other activities include membership in the Association of Women Students, Union Program Council, and Lambda Sigma and Omicron Delta Kappa honoraries.

Associated Student Body Treasurer Julianne Battaile is a business major from Belden, Miss. A Kappa Delta sorority officer, she has served on the ASB Welcoming Committee and was editor of the Panhellenic Rush Book. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Battaile, Julianne has been inducted into Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Rho Lambda, and Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

Julianne Battaile

Selection to the University of Mississippi's Hall of Fame is the highest honor an Ole Miss student can achieve. A preliminary selection committee appoints two students, who in turn, nominate eight seniors for the honor. An administrative committee then selects from those students a minimum of four or maximum of eight for induction into the Hall of Fame.

Brent Bond

The president of Omicron Delta Kappa, Brent Bond is a Carrier Scholar and a member of Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities. Brent, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Bond of Carthage, Miss., is a pre-med major and past vice president of Alpha Epsilon Delta. He has served as an Ole Miss Ambassador, as Rush Chairman for Sigma Nu fraternity, and is a member of Lambda Sigma and the Order of Omega.

Angela Clark, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Watts Clark of Jackson, Miss., is a journalism major currently serving as president of the Association for Women Students, and is also the national Little General for Air Force ROTC. She has held several offices in her sorority, Delta Gamma, and has been extremely involved on campus. Angela is a member of the College Republicans, the Committee of 100 and the Mortar Board. She also received the Taylor Medal in journalism, was selected to Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Rho Lambda, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Eta Sigma honoraries.

Paul Crutcher

Editor-in-chief of the 1983 DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN, Paul Crutcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Crutcher of Holly Springs and a journalism major. A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, he is a member of the Committee of 100 and numerous honoraries including Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta, and is a member of Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

Associated Student Body Vice President Art Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis Sr. of Southaven, Miss., is an accounting major. Presently serving on the Chancellor's Standing Committees which deal with University policy formulation, Art is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Beta Alpha Psi and Beta Gamma Sigma. He has also been elected to Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities and the Register of Outstanding College Graduates.

Art Davis

John Hall

Editor of the 1983 OLE MISS yearbook, John Hall is majoring in journalism and public relations. The son of Nelson and Barbara Hall of Meridian, he was co-editor of the 1980 Interfraternity Council Rush Book, and a staff writer for both the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN and the OLE MISS Magazine. John is president of the Public Relations Student Society of America, was ASB Director of Public Information and on the Student Alumni Council Board of Directors. John is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma, Order of Omega, Omicron Delta Kappa, Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, and is a former member of "The Group."

Associated Student Body President, William Ray, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Ray of Jackson, and is an English major. Williams is a National Merit Scholar, Chancellor's Scholar and a member of Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities. An officer of Beta Theta Pi fraternity for two years, he has been involved with ASB committee projects including Homecoming and Public Officials Day committees, and the selection committee for the Outstanding Teacher of the Year.

Among American Colleges and Universities

"The primary consideration for this award is teaching; a professor's ability to motivate students and encourage learning."

Chancellor Porter Fortune

Mr. William M. Champion Teacher of the Year 1983

William M. Champion, professor of law, is the 1982 recipient of the Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award at the University of Mississippi.

Champion received the award and a $1,000 check from Ole Miss Chancellor Porter L. Fortune, Jr. during Honor's Day ceremonies Thursday, April 8, 1982. Champion's name will be engraved on a plaque which is displayed in the Chancellor's office and lists previous recipients of the award.

Nominations for Outstanding Teacher are made by alumni, students, and faculty, with final selection by a committee of former recipients. The 1981 award went to Dr. Kwang-Sik Yun, associate professor of chemistry.

Champion, a native of Edwards, came to Ole Miss in 1965 as an assistant professor of law. A graduate of Hinds Junior College, he received the bachelor of science degree from Mississippi State University in 1953, the law degree from Ole Miss in 1961, and the master's degree in law from George Washington University in 1962. He attended the Harvard University School of Law, where he completed advanced graduate studies in law from 1967-68. Before taking his post at Ole Miss, he was an associate with the Watkins and Eager law firm in Jackson, and is now a member of Patterson and Patterson law firm in Aberdeen.

Champion and his wife, Annette, have two children, John and Laura, who are both students at the University of Mississippi.

Honor's Day each year is highlighted by the presentation of the University's highest academic awards, Taylor Medals and Taylor Citations, to undergraduate students who have demonstrated exceptional scholarship and superior academic work in all subjects.

In June of 1904, Dr. William T. Taylor of Booneville, Mississippi, founded the Marcus Elvis Taylor Memorial in memory of his son, the late Dr. Marcus Elvis Taylor, for the encouragement of meritorious scholarship and deportment.

Each year a faculty committee selects those students deserving of the medal for "meritorious scholarship and deportment" from those nominated by the participating divisions of the University.

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national leadership honor society which maintains that representatives in all phases of college life should cooperate in worthwhile endeavors, and that outstanding students, faculty, and administrators should meet on a basis of mutual interest, understanding and helpfulness.

Members are chosen for their leadership contributions and scholastic achievement. Five areas offer the criteria for the evaluation of prospective members. There are scholarship, athletics, social and student body activities, publications and the arts.

Susan Harper	Historian

Established originally as a national women's honor society, Mortar Board is now one of the highest senior honor groups for both men and women. Tassels, the local chapter; has been an active part of the Ole Miss campus since its founding in 1939. Mortar Board has a limit of thirty-five members. Selections are based on leadership, scholarship, service and at least a 3.0 overall GPA.

Mortar Board is a society that challenges the individual and the groups to provide thoughtful leadership to the campus and community, to create an environment of effective communication and to move toward a meaningful goal. The society continues to support the improvement of the status of men and women.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Since Alpha Epsilon Delta's formation in 1926, it has become the World's largest body devoted to premedical education. Its objective is to encourage and recognize excellence in premedical scholarship; to stimulate an appreciation of the importance of a premedical education; to promote co-operation and contacts between students and educators in developing an adequate program of premedical education; and to use its knowledge for the benefit of health, organization, and the community.

President ..... Charles Slavens
Vice-President . Davidson Ozodigwe
Treasurer ..... Neale Bruchman
Secretary ..... Cindy Ross
Marshall ..... Chris Cianciola
Editor ..... John Richards

The Ole Miss chapter of Chi Epsilon was founded in 1937, the 14th chapter in the United States and the first in the South. Since then over 350 honor students have been initiated, including such people as George Kimmons, chief design and construction for TVA, who was elevated to honor membership in the fall of 1982. Current activities include sponsoring a review course for the Engineer-in-Training exam, tutoring, presenting an award to the outstanding freshman engineering student and participating in career day activities.

The stained glass window in the old Geology Building, which was originally the library, was donated by the Delta Gamma social club of the Hays-Miller Boarding school and the Alumni Association of the University in 1889 in memory of the University Greys.

The inscription on the window reads, "In honor of those who, with ardent valor and patriotic devotion in the Civil War, sacrificed their lives in defense of principles inherited from their fathers and strengthened by the teachings of their Alma Mater, this memorial is lovingly dedicated."

Phi Theta Kappa

Phi Theta Kappa was founded in 1918 as a junior college honorary. In 1976, they introduced a new program giving alumni the opportunity to become members of a Phi Theta Kappa Alumni Chapter on the senior college campus. In 1978, a local Alumni chapter, Gamma of Mississippi, was founded on the Ole Miss campus.

The purposes of the organization are the promotion of scholarship, the development of leadership, and the cultivation of fellowship among students in colleges and universities in the United States.

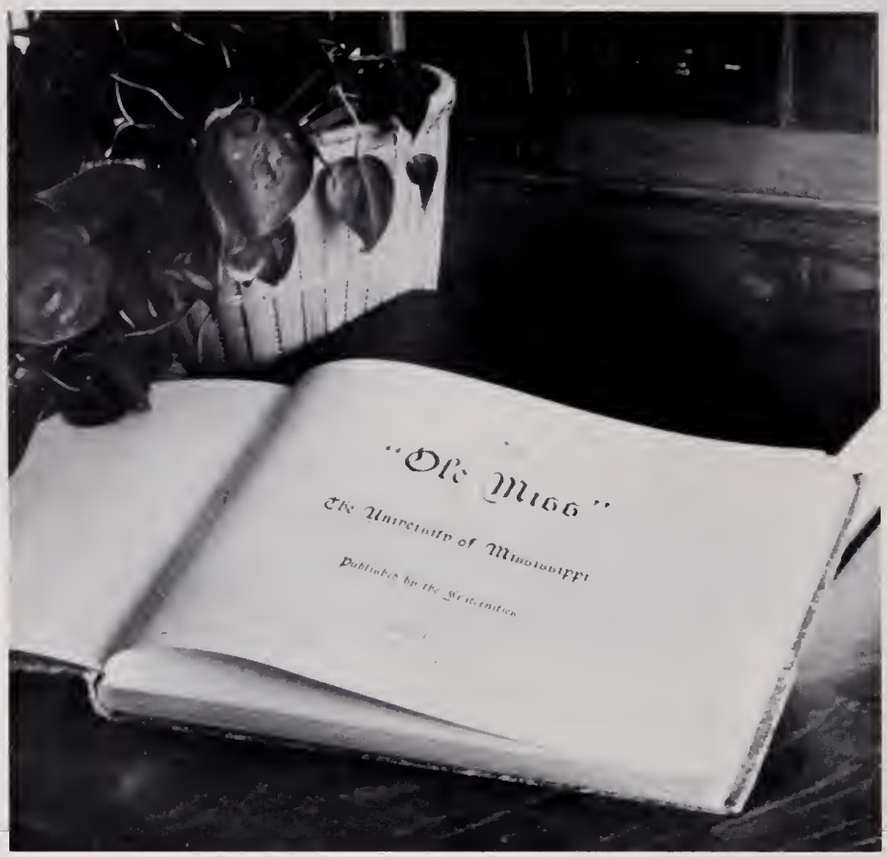

Membership provides various means by which to continue affiliation with the purpose, people, and programs of the fraternity.

The first volume of the annual, the "Ole Miss," was dedicated to William B. Lowry, the former Captain of the University Greys in 1897.

The name "Ole Miss" was suggested by Elma Meek and chosen in an informal contest over such names as "Cotton Boll" and "Magnolia." "Ole Miss" was a phrase used around the Meek home to distinguish Elma (Young Miss) from her mother (Ole Miss), and by 1910 had been adopted by the athletic teams as well. Since 1910 "Ole Miss" has become synonymous with the University.

Gamma Beta Phi is a scholastically oriented honor society for college and university students. The organization was founded on the Ole Miss campus this year, with the objectives of recognizing and encouraging excellence in education, promoting the development of leadership abilities, and developing outstanding character in its members.

Scabbard and Blade

Captain ..... Ernesto Anaya
First Lieutenant ..... John Driftmier
Second Lieutenant ..... Terry Leech
First Sergeant ..... Michail Bounds
Advisor ..... Captain Nowinsky, U.S. Army

Scabbard and Blade is a national military honor society. Our chapter was founded in 1940 as Company B of the 8th Regiment, nicknamed "The University Greys" in honor of those Ole Miss students who fought in the Civil War.

The society's purpose is to raise the standard of military education in American universities; to encourage and foster the qualities essential to becoming both an officer and a gentleman; and to represent the armed forces within the academic community through scholastic, service, social, and athletic activities. On this campus, Scabbard and Blade serves primarily as a forum in which its members discuss topics relevant to their military communities.

To be eligible for membership, one must be a member of the Army, Navy, or Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps and must have a 2.5 overall G.P.A. with a 3.0 in the field of military science. At the beginning of the 3rd year, a candidate must display exemplary leadership qualities to be recommended by a professor of military science.

TAU BETA PI
ENGINEERING HONORARY

Tau Beta Pi is the national engineering honorary founded in 1885, to recognize the outstanding leaders and scholars among students in all fields of engineering.

There are 183 chapters of this honorary located in engineering schools in this hemisphere. A chapter is awarded to a school after the entire school, including the curriculum and faculty are given a very vigorous inspection by neighboring chapters and national headquarters.

The Mississippi Beta Chapter at the University of Mississippi, established in 1969, is one of the only two chapters in the State of Mississippi. Over half of the faculty members in the Ole Miss School of Engineering are alumni members of Tau Beta Pi. They earned their membership as students in chapters from various schools in the United States.

The Beta Chapter strives to promote professionalism and to encourage scholarship among engineering students. Its members initiate projects toward this end and support such work in other student organizations. Most of the members of Tau Beta Pi are officers in other professional organizations of the school. Membership is by invitation and is restricted to juniors and seniors who are near the top of their class scholastically and have shown exemplary character.

"They fell devoted, but undying,
The very gale their names seem'd sighing;
The waters murmur'd of their name;
The woods were peopled with their fame;
The silent pillar, lone and gray.
Claim'd kindred with their sacred clay;
Their spirits wrapped the dusky mountain;
The meanest rill, the mightiest river,
Rolled mingling with their fame forever."

Byron

The Confederate Soldier stands at the entrance of the campus, greeting prospective students and returning alumni alike. He reminds us of our Southern heritage — both its turmoil and peaceful tranquillity.

There are inscriptions along the four sides of the statue's base. One is Byron's eulogy to the Confederate soldier shown at left, another reads, "To the heroes of Lafayette County, whose devotion made glorious many a battlefield."

As we leave the Ole Miss campus by way of University Avenue, the Confederate Soldier reminds us of all we have left behind.

Phi Kappa Phi is the highest scholastic honor a student may receive at the University of Mississippi. The primary objective of the honor society is to recognize and encourage superior scholarship in all academic disciplines.

To be elected to membership, an undergraduate student must be a senior or second semester junior exhibiting high standards of scholarship and character. Graduate students must have distinguished records placing them among the most able in their classes. Election of faculty denotes a significant contribution to their field.

THE HONOR SOCIETY OF PHI KAPPA PHI

Rho Lambda

Rho Lambda, The National Panhellenic Recognition Society, honors those women within Panhellenic who have been outstanding in the display of demonstrated leadership ability and loyalty to Panhellenic and to their sorority. Only active members in their Junior or Senior years are eligible. An overall average of 2.3 is required for membership. A maximum number of members to be elected in any year is 10% of the total Panhellenic membership.

The fraternal system of the south is steeped in a tradition that began long before Greeks were established on college campuses. That feeling of brotherhood and comradeship has been carried down through generations, especially here on the Ole Miss campus, and is well exemplified by the fraternal organizations of the present. The Greek system at Ole Miss dates back to 1890 when the first fraternity house was built by the Delta Psi's, with the understanding that it would be turned over to the University and leased to the brotherhood for 99 year periods.

Officers

President ..... Sai Ireland
Vice-President ..... Neil White
Secretary ..... Tim Walsh
Treasurer ..... Mike McGee
Social Chairman ... Kendall Garroway

Order of Omega, national honorary for outstanding Greeks, was founded at the University of Pittsburgh in 1957. The University of Mississippi's Omega Theta Chapter of Order of Omega was founded in 1968 but was reactivated in the spring of 1976 under the direction of David Halle. The organization exists to recognize those fraternity men who have attained a high standard of leadership in interfraternity activities, to encourage them to continue to strive toward excellence, and to inspire others to work for similar conspicious attainment. Working closely with the Interfraternity Council, the Order of Omega brings Greek-Faculty, alumni, and student members together on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

During any one year the Order of Omega is limited by its constitution to pledging no more than 3% of the total number of regularly enrolled fulltime undergraduate fraternity men. Order of Omega rush is conducted during the fall and spring with each fraternity being allowed to nominate rushees from its active membership.

Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism honorary, supports the promotion and expansion of the profession. To meet the requirements for membership, students must have at least a sophomore standing, a G.P.A. of 2.0 or above, and intend to pursue journalism as a career, though not necessarily to major in it. The object of the society is to encourage students to meet professionals through the seminars and conventions held in Knoxville, Milwaukee, and San Francisco. Each semester the group sponsors two speaker forums and one social function, this year they are also planning and sponsoring the Journalism Awards Banquet.

Kappa Omicron Phi is one of three national honor societies in the field of home economics, and a member of the Association of College Honor Societies. Its purpose is to further the best interests of home economics by recognizing and encouraging scholastic excellence, developing leadership abilities, fostering professional activities and interests, and promoting fellowship among faculty and students of the profession. Nationally Kappa Omicron Phi awards fellowships for graduate study at the master's or doctoral level, Grants for individual and chapter projects and leadership development workshops. Requirements for membership include: pursuing a major or minor in home economics; second semester sophomore academic standing; rank in top 35% of the class; minimum overall grade point average of 3.0 and completion of at least 9 hours in home economics subjects at a minimum overall grade point average of 3.0. Graduate students become eligible after the completion of one-half of the graduate program at a minimum overall GPA of 3.5. The National Service project is contribution to Crossnore School, Inc., which enrolls school-age children who for various reasons need institutional care. The school, located in the mountains of North Carolina, is entirely supported by various organizations.

Anyone who has been enrolled at the University of Mississippi for at least one semester knows how difficult registration can actually be. But it's no wonder when account is taken of the number of students who usually enroll in between 12 and 20 hours of class.

The most popular educational fields for entering freshmen are Business and Commerce, the Social Sciences, and Health Professions. The College of Liberal Arts has the most students enrolled, though the School of Business Administration and the School of Accountancy have continued to grow.

As times change and enrollment grows, the campus itself must change to meet the demands made upon it. The old Gym, built in 1929, was replaced this year by the new Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Center. Though many classes were switched to the modern facility, the old Gym, in the tradition of the school, remains as a functional part of the past.

Ole Miss Paper Dolls

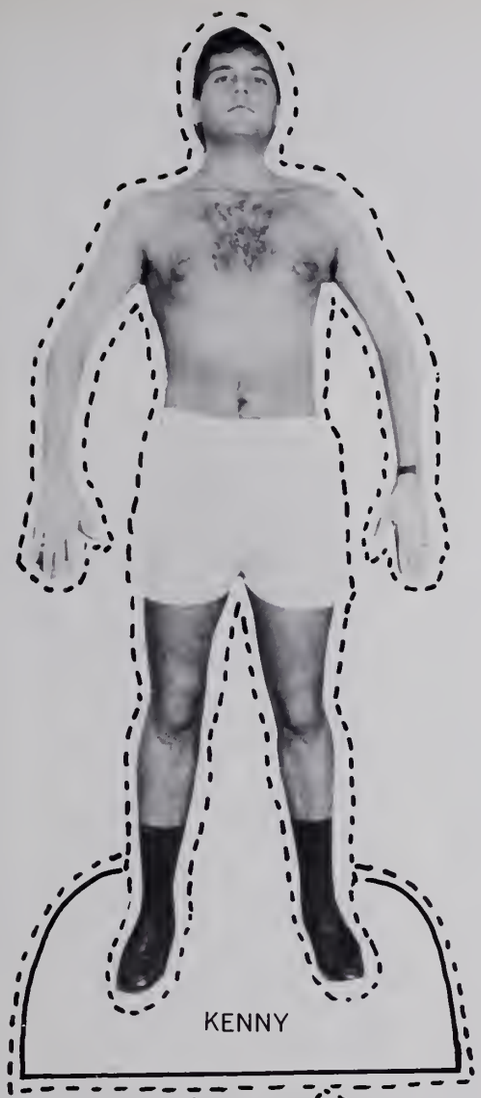

Morning After

Punk Rock

Mississippi State

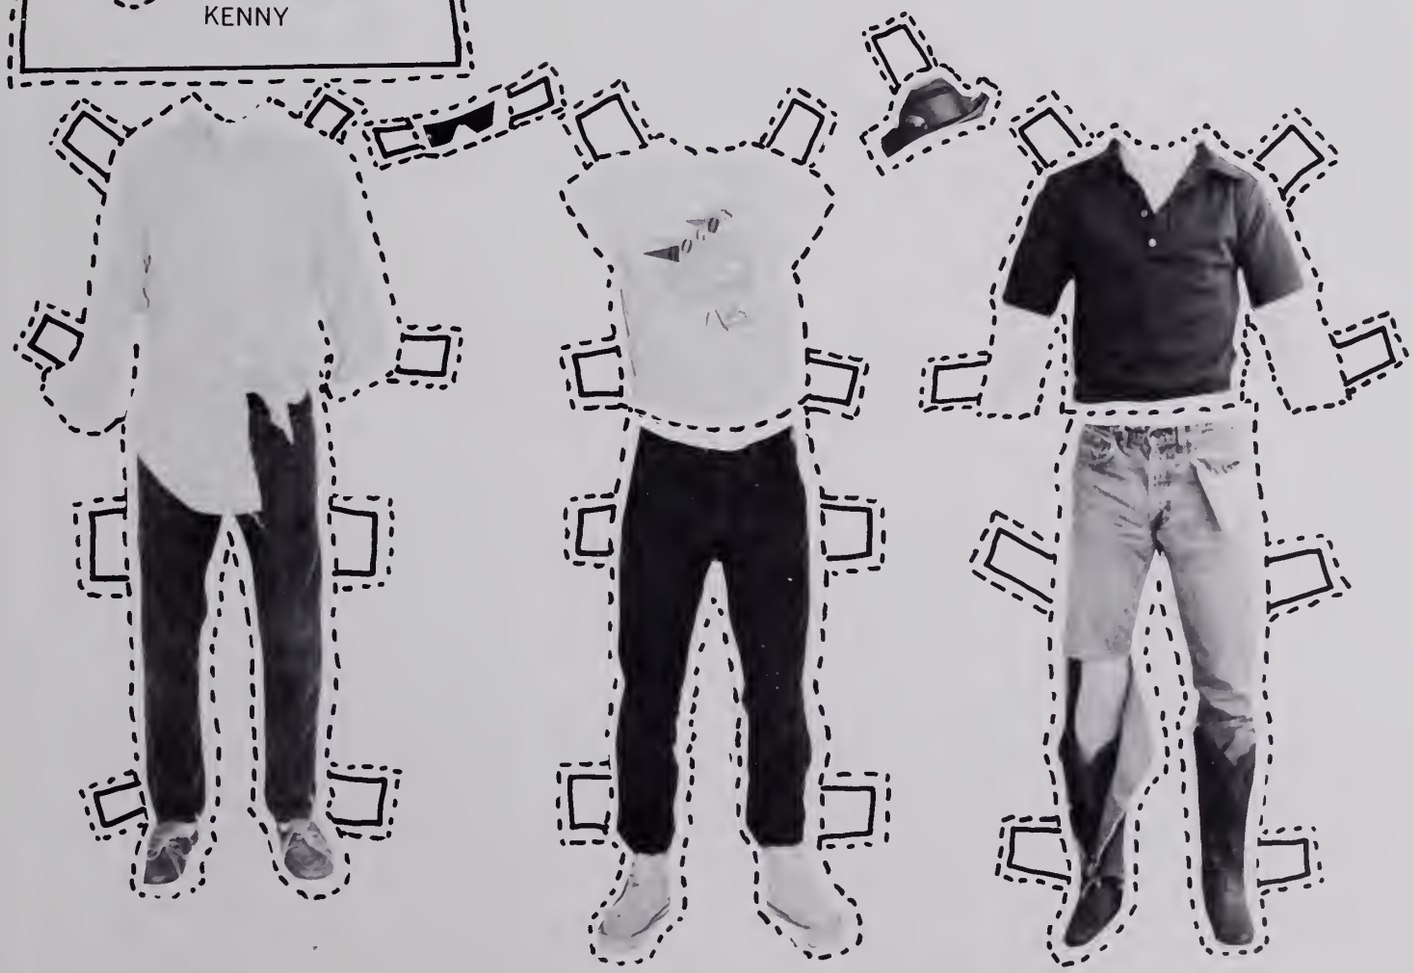

Playing with paper dolls has been a favorite pastime of children everywhere for hundreds of years. Now, you can have the toy for the college student of the 80's . . . the Ole Miss Paper Doll.

The dolls are right here, simply cut out the dolls and outfits along perforated lines. In dressing your dolls, Kitty and Kenny, you can choose from the punk rock look, the Miss. State getup, and the "morning after the Gin" thrown together outfit.

The female punk rock outfit consists of a sexy leopard skin dress, and new wave glasses. Her black heels finish off the outfit. The male punk rock outfit is highlighted with the GoGos t-shirt and high-tops.

Our dolls will fit right in at the State game in their overalls, torn jeans and boots, eternally in style at MSU.

To make it to his mandatory 8 a.m. Friday class, Kenny will be wearing the same crumpled shirt from the night before, and the sure sign of no shower, a hat. Kitty can be found the morning after in her sweats.

Morning After

Punk Rock

Mississippi State

Saturday at Hemingway

Upon arrival at Hemingway, Frances was horrified to discover she is not Ben's only companion for the game as Ben begins his pregame festivities.

A stag party at the end of the first quarter when all the girls, somehow, have to go to the bathroom at exactly the same time!

A misguided Ben enthusiastically roars his school spirit at the game's latest touchdown. (Unfortunately, and unknown to Ben, the score belonged to the opponent.)

Frances' attention is diverted by Ole Miss' scoring. Ben takes advantage of the opportunity to finish off his whiskey in one big gulp, only to sink further down into the depths of drunkenness.

Innocent Frances is appalled to find the bottle empty and finished, and Ben full and finished.

Ben is "out" for the night.

Staying

For years the UPD thought they were striking back at irresponsible students who failed to pay their parking fines by withholding semester grades. Well, this year our friends in blue caught on and opted for a more stringent plan. Now they lock in the unfortunate students at Swayze Field. Shown here are several of the captives depressingly watching their friends pull out for Christmas Break.

Giving

We've all heard of the tooth fairy, fairy godmothers and the like. Here at Ole Miss we have a special friend; it's Leslie Andrews, the Booze Fairy. Doling out generous portions of Alka-Seltzer, extra-strength Tylenol and extra-spicy bloody marys, Leslie can be seen flitting down fraternity row in the wee hours of the morning from house to house. Here she works her magic on two desperate over-indulgers. Leslie reports, however, that hers is a thankless job for she must disappear before the morning's first light.

Tricking

This set of twins decided to throw a little spice into their Halloween by doing a little tricking instead of treating. As they made their way down Sorority Row, none of the girls suspected that this angelic looking pair harbored a vicious weapon. Yes, the twins had devilishly poisoned their holiday "treats" with Ex-Lax. They are seen here eagerly hatching their plot in front of the Delta Gamma House.

While a careless head was turned, this gypsy woman from Bulgaria wandered into the University Daycare Center and wandered out with a string of unsuspecting children. UPD has dubbed her the "Playground Pied Piper." Alarmed parents are keeping what children they have left at home. When last seen, this woman was leading her flock over the northern hills toward Tupelo.

Kidnapping

Lodging

Not having a date to the U.M.-Vandy game didn't stop these coeds from roadtripping it up to Nashville for the weekend. Seeing this motel right outside town, the University students decided to stay here hoping to find a wide selection of young men from which to choose for a date for a perhaps wilder than usual weekend.

Jigging

Ole Miss coeds are famous for going on fad diets but his country-bred lass took things a bit too far. After fasting for three straight days and fortified with one too many Dexatrim diet pills, the extra energy proved to be too much. On her way through the grove on the way to class, she burst into an uncontrollable Irish jig. Spectators who witnessed the strange occurrence claimed she danced for several hours until collapsing into an exhausted, but pleasingly thin heap.

Building

All semester the XΩ's have cleverly fooled the campus into believing the addition they have been constructing will be a kitchen. At the opening of the new wing alumnae were mortified to discover not a magnificent new dining hall as expected but a gambler's paradise. The campus's only casino is complete with a roulette wheel, black jack and poker tables, and slot machines. The social chairman is already planning a crap-shoot with the Pikes.

Selling

Betty the Brownie foolishly thought that she could sell her mints and peanut butter patties to the students of Ole Miss. After a long day of meager sales, Betty decided to inconspicuously strike back. Placing a small grenade in each box, she is seen awaiting for her first victim to bite into these "special" cookies.

Ole Miss is an image — ever illusive — ever intangible.
If you do find it —
and hold it —
bless you.

— Sherry Lucas

Ole Miss simply becomes a part of you. It gets its start with that first football weekend and your love for this place grows. The feel of the school — its people and traditions — is something which stays with you always.

— Lawson Hester

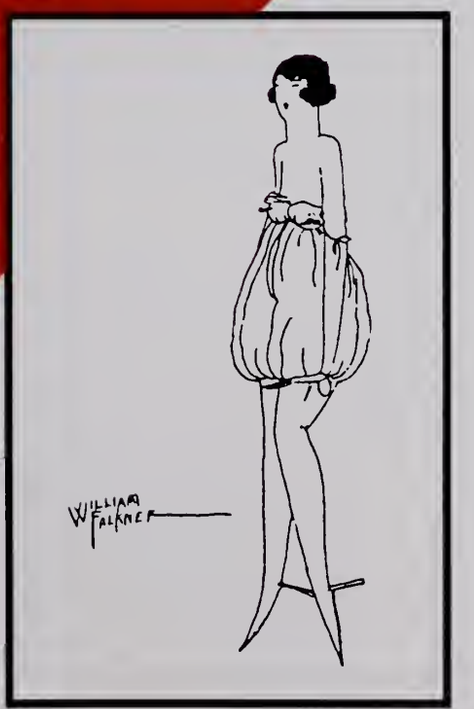

Ole Miss is a chance to find yourself. It is keeping Mom and Dad happy at midterm. Ole Miss is a breeding ground of controversy.

— Brett Bartlett

The University of Mississippi is the Titanic of universities. It is an endangered species.

— Eric Jefferies

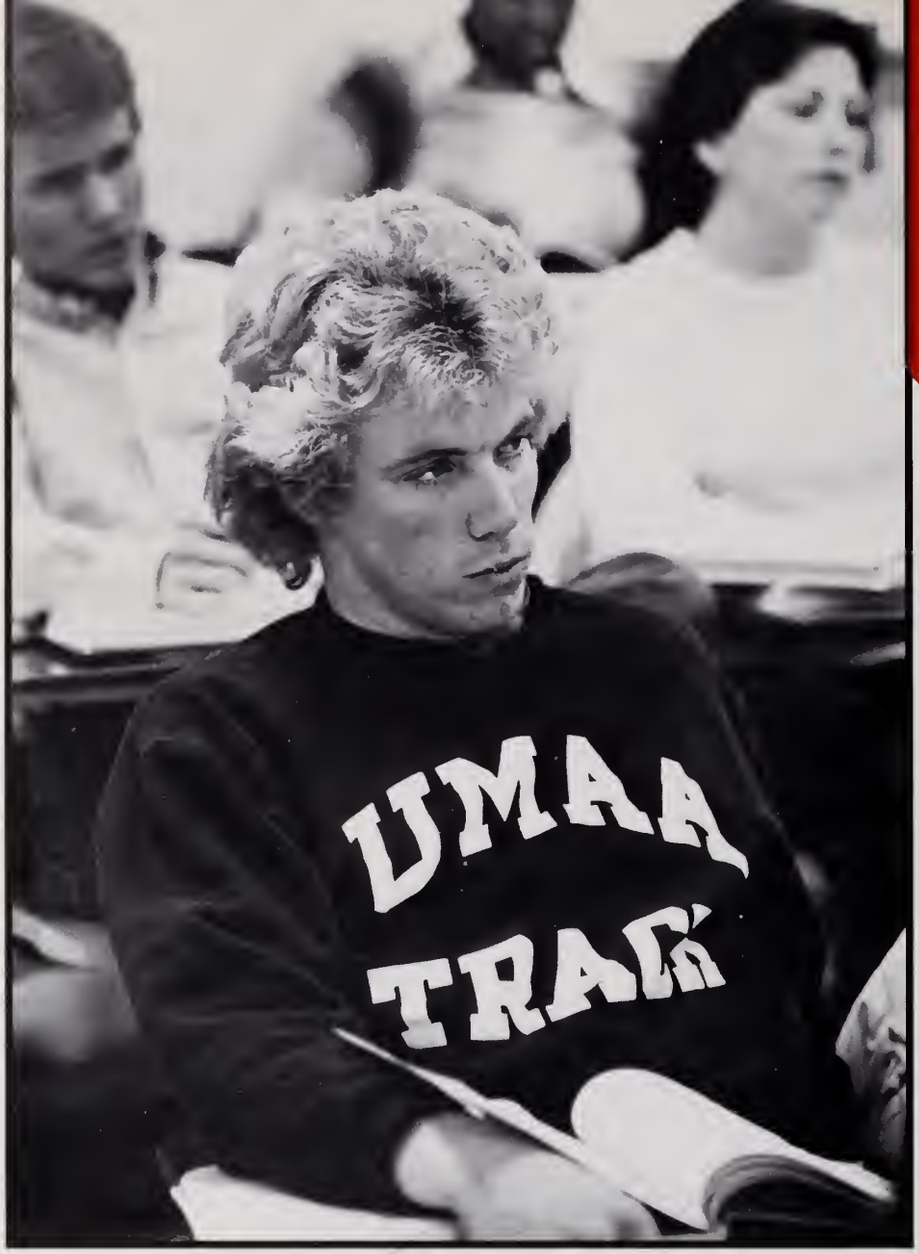

"Woof, Woof."

— Pete Morris

Ole Miss is a place conducive to growth; where academic challenge combines with warmth, beauty, and friendship to enrich and fulfill the total person.

— Pat Larkin

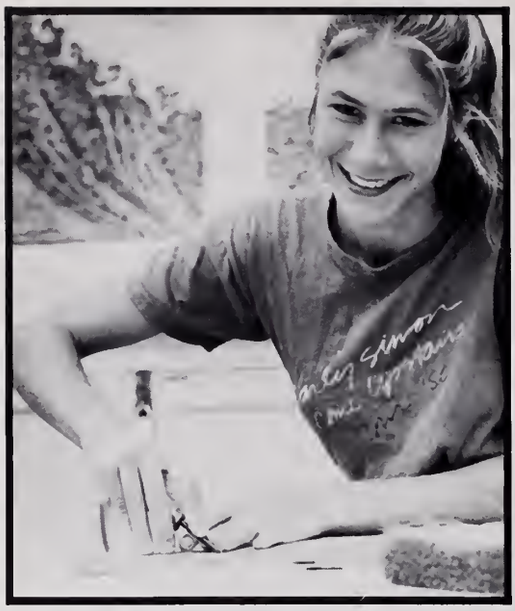

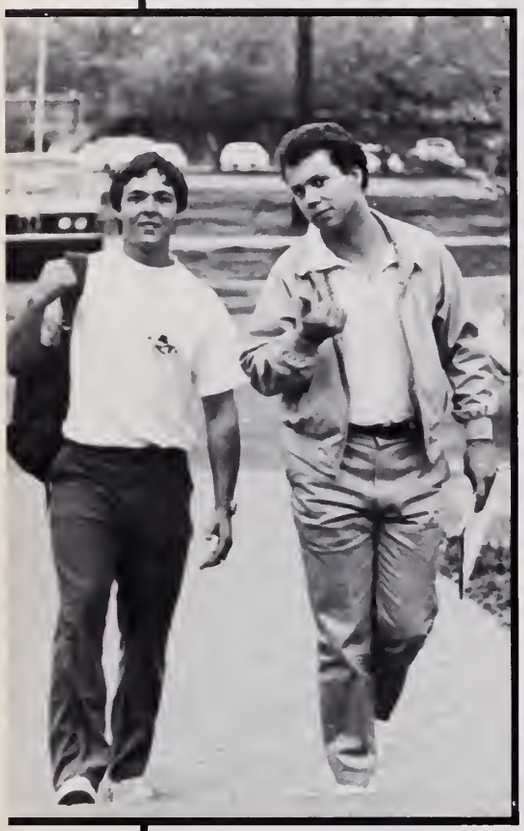

Ole Miss

Studying in the afternoon and making it to the Gin by nine.

— Nat Sampson

The Grove is the hub of Ole Miss — we play there and we study there. It becomes a part of our college experience.

— Debbie Adams

Ole Miss is a great place to live — nine months of the year.

— Perry Fath

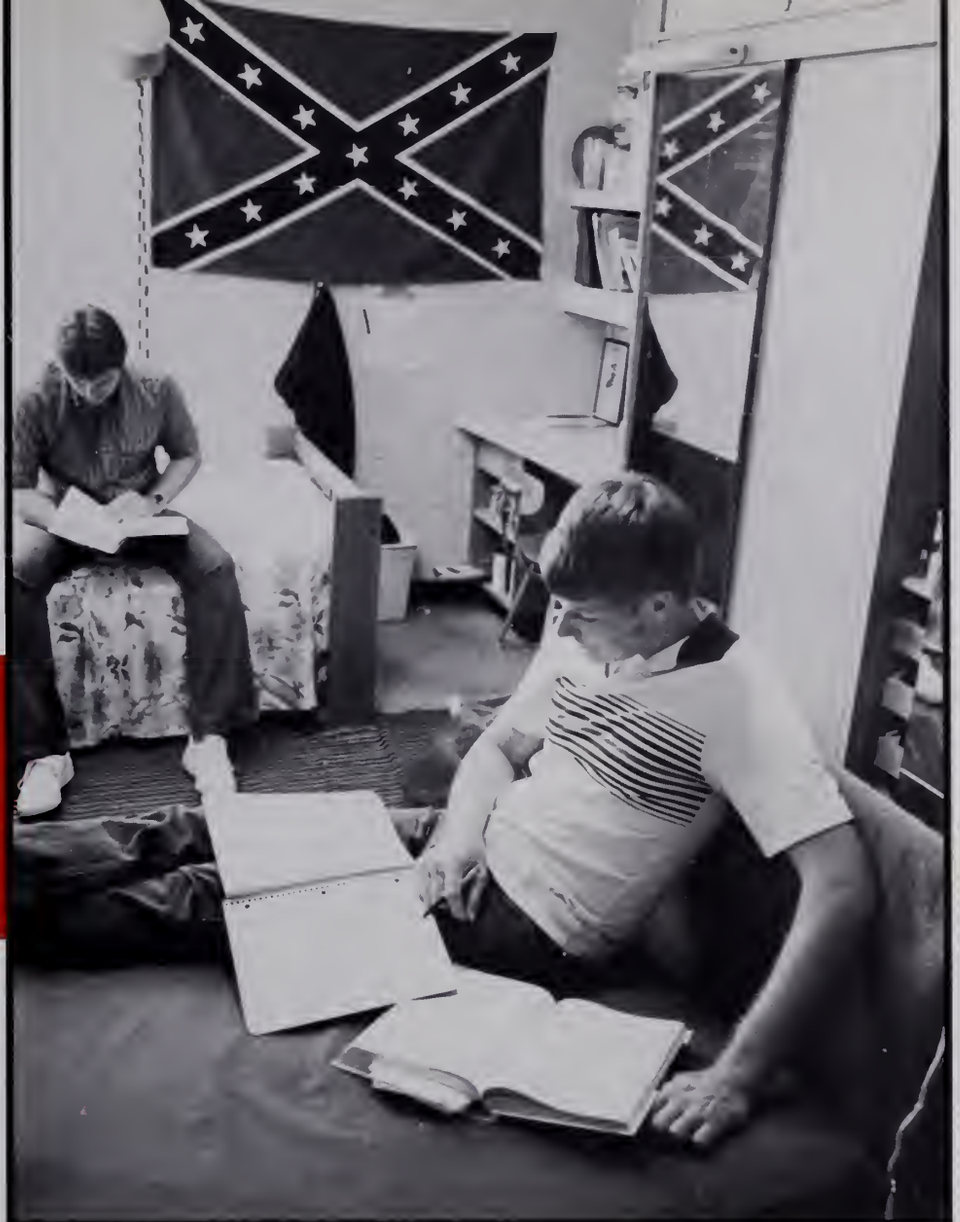

Students here are unique in that some are able to generate spurts and sparks of energy, so everyone can enjoy the party life as well as receive the rewards of an education.

— Yvonne Cummings

If one theme could be chosen for the passing events of this year, I believe that theme would be "change." Good or bad, 1983 has been a year of dramatic changes at Ole Miss. Traditions have been challenged with an explosion of pent-up emotions like never before.

For me, this seems sad. But I realize that to move ahead, rather than stagnate, Ole Miss must change too.

I never thought writing the editor's closing would be sad. For the past several months, all I have thought about is how happy I would be when I mailed in these last pages. Now, as I sit and remember all of the people and places that the OLE MISS has introduced to me, a certain sorrow engulfs me. Graduation is becoming a realization rather than a destination.

I have heard it said that a person's character is made up of all those people he is surrounded by. If this is true, then I have been blessed with the very best. There are several people, though, that deserve a special mention.

As efficient as she is reliable, Lauren Lexa has not only been a tireless worker but a very good friend. "My secretary" has had to put up with more than her share of "all-nighters" as well as endless practical jokes. Thank you for putting up with my many and ever-changing moods.

The Dallas trip just wouldn't have been the same without my assistant editor, Newell Turner. "Newly's" innovative and creative ideas have helped shape a whole new look for the OLE MISS.

Without the support and "coaching" of Friley Davidson, John Dowdle and Bubba Morgan, I probably would never have touched a single quad-pak of the OLE MISS. Friley, who could ever forget those late night trips to "the Line" with Sally when we should have been working on the Rush Book?

Two others who cannot receive enough thanks are Bobby Towery and Frances Smith. Their constant support has been essential to the success of this book.

Of all people, I owe my most special thanks to my Meridian "buddies." Ann, Jan and Stacy, y'all have been the greatest. You can't know how much I have appreciated your friendship.

Now, with the end in sight, I must admit I feel a little excitement at the thought of lightened duties. A lot of memories have been made here in Odom A, but I hope we have captured all of this year's memories in the 1983 OLE MISS. Good luck on the '84 Liz.

editor's closing

We do not need to "search for ourselves" on a quest full of self-indulgence, because our feet are planted firmly on the ground. Our ground. A ground rich with history — we know the stories — this sets us apart. The narcistic philosophy of "looking out for #1" is simply not a Southern one. We always reach for the best, but never lose sight of the past and its mistakes.

Changes come slower here than other places — but changes do come. Several generations of habits and traditions cannot be changed overnight. Patience is needed. Criticism comes easy from outsiders who are not involved in these changes. They do not realize our traditions give us an element of stability that is lacking in other parts of the country.

In this year of cries for change at Ole Miss, old wounds were reopened. Only this time the pain hurts worse, because we vividly remember the effects of a never forgotten wrong, no matter what has been done to change it, no matter what has been done to correct it. Black and white — we live together here — a crucial difference that separates us from other places. All racial problems have not been worked out, but when they are, I believe the South will be the place where it happens.
